Joan Little Lawyer Will Face Trial For Pressuring Witness

By CATHY STEELE ROCHE

Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The Joan Little defense team is regrouping after one of her seven attorneys was thrown off the case and charged with a felony for allegedly attempting to influence the testimony of a witness.

Morris Dees was ordered out of the courtroom by Judge Hamilton Hobgood on Tuesday after Beverly King accused him of pressuring her to change her testimony.

Dees, who is with the Southern Poverty Law Center in Montgomery, Ala., was later charged with attempted subornation of perjury. He was released on a $2,000 personal recognizance bond. A preliminary hearing was set for Sept. 15 in Raleigh.

Mrs. King, a black radio dispatcher at the Beaufort County jail in Washington, N.C., said Dees approached her in the courtroom during the noon recess and asked her to tell an untruth.

Miss Little, talking about Dees being ousted from her case, said "It's going to get worse. They are going to pull more dirty tricks."

Miss Little also indicated that Mrs. King wasn't telling the truth in her testimony. "We hope the jury picked up on it."

She was on duty in the radio room at the jail last Aug. 27 when the night jailer, Clarence Alligood, 62, was stabbed to death. Miss Little, a 21-year-old black who was an inmate at the jail, is charged with first degree murder in the slaying.

She fled the jail, leaving Alligood's body, naked from the waist down, slumped on a cot in her cell. Miss Little claims the white jailer was trying rape her and that she stabbed him with an ice pick in self defense. The prosecution claims Miss Little killed Alligood during an escape.

Mrs. King testified that Alligood went to the radio room at 2:55 a.m. on Aug. 27 and asked her if all of the deputies had gone off duty. She testified that the question was not unusual.

Dees said he later confronted her with a statement he said she made in an interview with him last month in which she said Alligood's question was "abnormal conduct on his part and it was unusual."

After the jury was sent from the courtroom, Mrs. King told the court, "He told me to go ahead and say it and it would help Joan and wouldn't hurt the state."

Dees said he only told Mrs. King to tell the truth.

Chief defense counsel Jerry Paul later charged that the prosecution had pressured Mrs. King into amending her story because the white leadership in Washington "will do anything to convict Joan Little."

The prosecution is seeking to establish that there was nothing unusual about Alligood's conduct the night he was killed.

Earlier, Beaufort County Medical Examiner Dr. Harry Carpenter testified that he found seminal fluid on Alligood's body. He said it had apparently been ejaculated just prior to or at the time of death.

"I assumed it indicated sexual activity," Carpenter said. He said he had performed more than 1,000 autopsies and had never encountered a case where ejaculation resulted from a traumatic death.

Carpenter also testified that he found 11 puncture wounds on Alligood's body — one on the scalp, seven in the chest, two on the upper part of the right thigh and one on the side of the stomach.

I&M Will Resume Work On Generator

Indiana & Michigan Electric company today announced that it will resume construction work immediately on the 1.1-million kilowatt No. 2 generating unit at its Donald C. Cook nuclear plant at Bridgman.

Work on the unit was halted last November as the result of mounting economic pressures. Construction of the unit had been 87% completed at the time.

Robert M. Kopper, executive vice president of I&M, said that rate relief granted to the company by the public service commissions of both Indiana and Michigan made possible the resumption of construction work at the plant on Lake Michigan.

He said that plans called for the gradual build-up of the construction work force to approximately 200 by December, with the objective of having the generating unit in service by the fourth quarter of 1977.

Meanwhile, the plant's Unit 1 has been in successful test operation and is expected to be placed in commercial operation within the next few months. It is presently licensed to operate at 820,000 kilowatts.

Charge Detroit Bar Owner With 2nd Degree Murder

By MARTIN HIRSCHMAN

Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Young blacks set fires and smashed windows for the second straight night and vowed to renew their assault on a bar owned by a white man charged with the fatal shooting of a black teenager.

About 300 riot-equipped police advanced in military fashion Tuesday night behind wafting clouds of tear gas, pushing a crowd of several hundred out of a decaying business strip in northwest Detroit.

Police said 36 persons were arrested Tuesday night, bringing the two-day toll to 99.

The area, never fully recovered from the devastation of the 1967 Detroit riot, was quiet early today as the skirmishes diminished after midnight.

Some minor injuries were reported but police said they had no idea how many persons were treated. An Associated Press photographer was hospitalized after he was injured when his car was pelted with rocks.

The massive police presence in the Livernois-Penkel-area was re-established Tuesday after the mob ransacked Bob Bolton's Bar and attempted to burn it down.

Andrew Chinarian, 39, owner of the bar, was charged earlier in the day with second-degree murder in Monday night's death of Ohio Wynn, 18, who was shot in the back of the head.

The shooting immediately set off the disturbances and left the bar — already hated by local blacks because of alleged discrimination — as a prime target for Tuesday's crowd.

"They're going to burn it," several residents agreed as they eyeballed police.

Officers moved into the area in force after an appearance by Mayor Coleman Young failed to dissuade the crowd from the assault on Chinarian's bar.

About two hours later, officers ordered the crowd to disperse and were answered with a five-minute damage of windows and rocks. Then police moved forward, firing tear gas, to force scattered groups of youths out of the area.

A rock shattered the windshield of a fire truck, injured a firefighter.

ARRAIGNED: Andrew Chinarian, 39, smoking cigar is led to Tuesday afternoon arraignment at Detroit's John Murphy Hall of Justice where he was charged with second degree murder for the shooting death of Ohio Wynn in the parking lot of a northwest side bar Monday. Death Sentence Amendment

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A constitutional amendment to permit the death sentence for first-degree murderers in Michigan has been introduced in the state House by Rep. Richard Fowler, R-Union Lake. "There has been an increasing chorus of voices in Michigan calling for the reinstatement of the death penalty," Fowler said Tuesday. "Some want it as a deterrent to violent crime," he said. "Some view it as a way to make sure that the public is protected from dangerous criminals. 'Whatever peoples' reasons, I think it's time the people of Michigan have a chance to express themselves on capital punishment.'"

When it fell to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Making Turkey Hash In The Mideast

Last year some Greek revolutionaries overturned a coalition government on Cyprus headed by Archbishop Makarios who had been steering an uneasy course between the island's population divided 80 per cent Greek and 20 per cent Turkish.

The Turkish government promptly invaded Cyprus under the pretense that the revolutionaries were about to massacre their kinsmen in a blood bath.

The Turk amphibious force easily dispersed the native troops and within a few days secured the northern, most prosperous part of the island.

The Turkish army is almost totally equipped with American arms and materiel.

The invasion set off numerous protests by U.S. citizens of Greek lineage and over strenuous objections from the White House and the State Department, Congress voted to ban further military shipments to Turkey until the invading force withdrew from Cyprus.

The embargo promptly evoked anti-American demonstrations in Turkey.

Because Turkey is a kingpin in NATO and a definite influence in the eastern Mediterranean, the Administration has pressed Congress to repeal its first action.

Two months ago the Senate by a narrow 41-40 ballot agreed with the White House, but only after Mike Mansfield, the majority leader, personally led the attack on the argument that since American arms were used for aggression the law and morality require barring any such future deployment.

Mansfield pointed out that a dozen U.S. monitoring stations and air bases in Turkey are a vital link in the NATO defense chain and a deterrent to more intransigent acts that some Arab hotheads already are perpetrating.

Should the Turks declare the American presence an unwanted thing, the turbulent Mideast could erupt completely and vastly enhance the growing Soviet influence in that area.

Shortly before the House was scheduled to vote on the embargo, Mansfield issued the same plea on a national TV hookup.

Demanding the Cyprus squabble must be settled first, the House majority disregarded his plea.

Turkey immediately placed its military in charge of the bases.

The Ankara government has stopped short of closing the bases. It offers to withdraw from them in return for a resumption in arms shipments.

Whether cooler heads in the House will prevail depends probably on what reading its majority takes from the home folks during the August recess.

Turkey recently joined an all Moslem declaration concerning the Mideast and the embargo could push her ever closer to a traditional foe. Closer ties with another traditional enemy, the Russians, is a distinct possibility.

Such a relationship could be deadly for Israel which is a political pet of the first magnitude in Washington.

The morality cited by the majority is strange rhetoric for a political body to cite. Congress has never been noted for elevating ethics over politics.

Summit conferences would be a lot more effective if they were conducted on the level.

Key Decision Due Friday On Ike's 'Dream Highway'

In his 1956 State of the Union Message, President Eisenhower said his proposed highway legislation would add to "the personal safety, the general prosperity, and the national security of the American people." Congress could not have agreed more. Eisenhower's bill, which authorized the biggest road-building program in American history, sailed through the House and Senate virtually without opposition.

The National System of Interstate and Defense Highways provided for total highway construction costing $31.5 billion in federal and state funds through 1969. As of this year, work on the system is only around 85 per cent complete and the price tag for what Ike once termed "the greatest public works program in history" is projected to be nearly $90 billion.

Michigan motorists have benefited at least as much and maybe more than those from other states. I-94 is a special boon to this area and the rest of southern Michigan, for example. Regardless of what the ecologists say, would anyone like to return to the almost double travel times of before the I-94 era?

But even in Michigan the interstate system is far from complete. Look at I-196 and its stub end here as a case in point.

There are a number of reasons why it is unlikely that all 42,500 miles of the Interstate system will ever be built. The high costs of construction equipment and relocation aid — assistance for displaced homeowners and businesses — are two major factors. And the increasingly vocal anti-highway lobby has made its presence felt all across the country. In addition, President Ford and Transportation Secretary William T. Coleman Jr. have proposed making it easier for states to use allocated federal highway money for other highway and mass transit needs.

A case in point is a continuing, 20-year battle between supporters and opponents of proposed extension of Interstate Route 66 in northern Virginia and Washington, D.C. Proponents see the new road as a faster way to commute from the Virginia suburbs into the nation's capital; opponents term the extension an ecological disaster and have called for improved mass transit systems instead.

A decision in the Interstate 66 case will come this Friday, when Secretary Coleman announces whether or not he will approve the construction of the road. His decision will be based upon studies and testimony at public hearings, and whatever the final verdict, one thing is certain. The honeymoon is over for Eisenhower's universally popular program of 20 years ago.

PARENTS PLAN CALLED 'SENSELESS'

Editor: I read with interest the article in the paper about the alternate plan proposed by the Parents Advisory Committee to expand two comprehensive programs for the mentally handicapped in our county. As opposed to one centralized school proposed by the Intermediate School Board, I think the plan presented by the Parent Advisory Committee is the most sensible and I hope the Intermediate Board adopts it at their next meeting. It will save the taxpayers a large sum of money and keep the students closer to their homes.

I believe two programs offering all the services needed is going forward in the field of education of mentally handicapped youngsters.

'WE' ARE ONES WHO FOOT THE BILL

Editor: Most voters consider their ideal representatives in state legislature and Congress to be one who heads their requests. It seems that most candidates, upon their election, have tried to live up to this image.

For many years a multitude of wishes of the constituents have been fulfilled, ranging from tax exemptions for industries and tax exemptions for individuals to increased support for the elderly, the unemployed and the voters on welfare.

We all should be happy with the actions of our elected representatives! Or should we?

How long will it take us to discover that our representative, who headed our many requests so unthinkingly out of the public coffers, isn't the one who foots the ever-increasing costs ... we are!

And when we find out that funds from state and federal levels cost us many times that amount in taxes? That we'd be much better off financing our needs locally?

If we determined locally how pure our air and water should be, how much protection we needed in our factory jobs for our hands, eyes and ears, how fast we should drive our cars, how much support we should grant the unemployed and welfare families, and what minimum wage (if any) would be desirable, knowing that we had to pay for it ourselves, we might trim our desires!

But even if we didn't do any trimming, we could do it locally for less than half of what it cost us now — and retain the ability to trim the desires, if we felt that the cost exceeded the benefit!

Well, it is our fault that it has gotten to this point: First we elected the most "promising" representatives, and then we asked them again and again to keep their promises of benefits out of the Public Treasury.

It didn't take long for the Treasury to be cleaned out, but that didn't slow us down. So the Treasury borrowed the money from us (Savings Bonds) and from financial institutions, and kept on acting rich.

Our endless demands for all kinds of public services: social security, safety, health, education, welfare, etc. required ever more taxes. Not only for the Services themselves, but for the growing staff of administrators to provide the services.

As long as the economy of our nation was growing, we could take it in our stride. Finally the burden of taxes and regulations got too much and the recession started in.

How about electing no-men instead, who will turn down each demand which doesn't pay its own way (as the highway fund does), or risks unbalancing the budget?

Let's throw our friendly spiders out of office!

McGovern Hits Ford 'Tyranny'

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern says President Ford has ignored the needs of poor Americans, but Congress has been "too timid" to stand up to the President.

"The tyranny of the minority has been met by the timidity of the opposition," McGovern, a South Dakota Democrat, told the National Urban League's 85th annual conference Tuesday.

Tom Tiede Nonlawyers Who Lay Down Law

FAIRCHANCE, PA. — As the only judge in town, James Hare says he scrupulously tries to administer justice according to the dictates of the community name.

And his record indicates success. In 15 years as Justice of the Peace he has never had a threat on the bench, never been accused of corruption, and has rendered only three verdicts overturned by higher courts. Still, he has critics. "Judge," they tell him as they are being led off to the slammer, "I thought the name of this place was Fairchance."

In addition to those under pain of 90 days in jail, Jim Hare has more impassioned detractors. He is one of thousands of non-lawyer judges in America who are coming into increasing condemnation by forces opposed to layman justice. Worried about the capacity of non-lawyers to pass correct judgments on complex legal matters, civil rightsists have brought law suits to challenge the constitutional correctness of non-lawyer judges. In some states citizens are preparing to vote on the issue.

Pennsylvania has not yet reached the lawsuit or ballot level of protest. Those tests currently are confined to four states in the South and New York. But the issue here as elsewhere is pregnant. A number of lawyers object to what they see as "a risky simplification" by non-lawyer justices. They claim the non-lawyers undermine confidence in the system through incompetence. Says one from Pittsburgh: "If you're in trouble with your landlord, and he threatens eviction, would you rather have an expert or an amateur decide the case?"

Intellectually, the argument is a fair one. Even Judge Hare admits he cannot keep up on the law as much as he would like. "We usually receive notification from Harrisburg concerning changes in the law, but the problem is when. Sometimes I get the literature six months late." Hare recalls one time when he charged two people $5 apiece for the same motor vehicle offense. A few weeks later the state wrote to tell him the fine had been changed to $100 apiece before his verdict, and ordered him to collect the rest of the money. "Well, I would not even think of going back to the defendants to get the money, so I had to pay the state myself."

But aside from informational deficiencies, and the lack of a professional certificate, Hare concedes nothing to his detractors. "It isn't all a matter of books," he says, "it's common sense as much as anything. Sometimes what looks wrong isn't really wrong at all. And vice versa. You take teen-age drinking. It's not allowed in Pennsylvania but it is in nearby West Virginia. Now you don't have to be a lawyer to realize the inconsistency there. Personally, I try to dismiss such cases, especially if they're first offenses. And I can't see how a lawyer's degree would help in the decisions at all."

By and large Hare's decisions are not momentous in nature. While there are some non-lawyers in America who sit in judgment of serious criminal cases (a few non-lawyers serve on state supreme courts, as example), Hare's responsibilities are minimal. As a J.P., which is more modernly called District Justice, Hare hears "all those little damn cases nobody else wants," traffic violations, minor family disputes, zoning violations. Nonetheless, he adds, "We do have power here, almost unlimited power in some cases. We can dismiss actions. We can stop proceedings from getting more serious. No doubt about it, if a guy wanted to be corrupt in this job, he could. Whether he's a lawyer or non-lawyer, I might add."

Douglas' Health Crucial Question

WASHINGTON — Supreme Court Chief Justice Warren Burger told a small gathering of friends recently that he fully expected ailing Justice William O. Douglas to return full time to the bench when the Court begins its next term on September 15.

Having duly recorded this unusual and apparently frank comment by the Chief Justice on the health of one of his colleagues, it is necessary to add:

(A) He may not really know the status of Douglas' health, and (B) it would be politically unwise of him to comment in any way but optimistically to any person outside the inner circle of the Court, since Douglas' health could well become one of the major issues of the 1976 Presidential campaign.

Speculation persists here in legal circles that Douglas, 78, is making little progress in his treatments for a stroke at the Institute of Rehabilitation Medicine in New York. As far as can be determined, he has lost the use of one arm and can move his legs only to take a step or two.

Limited use of his limbs, however, need not prevent him from serving another year or even more on the Court. The real question is the extent to which his physical debilitation has affected his mental capacity and his energy.

Douglas' doctors and his family have not been candid on the subject. Institute spokesmen say the family has insisted that hospital officials give out no information not approved in advance. The Justice is isolated from all but the most trusted visitors. He has been seen outside the hospital only once, having lunch in his wheelchair at a restaurant nearby. He has spoken to only one reporter, who was prevented briefly under the auspices of a friend and recorded predictably that Douglas intends to be back on the bench next year. Burger told his friends that he was basing his prediction upon his "long exposure" to Douglas, who has a reputation as a stubborn and exceptionally healthy man. In addition, Burger may have meant that, knowing the Douglas character, he could not imagine Douglas stepping down if his health at all permitted it at a time when his replacement would be selected by President Ford, who as House Minority Leader once led an abortive campaign to impeach him.

Burger also observed that he had received a letter from a woman in Washington State who noted that she had read Justice Douglas hoped to be well enough to vacation at his home in Goose Prairie before the court session. She urged Burger to persuade Douglas to stay away, because roughly 150 miles from Goose Prairie a long-dormant volcano called Mt. Baker has recently been steaming and spouting and showing dangerous signs of life. She said that she feared since Douglas is not ambulatory he might be trapped in a lava flow and she didn't want the country to lose him.

Burger said that he replied to the letter-writer that the volcano wouldn't erupt while Douglas was present. "If anything erupts, I am sure it will be Justice Douglas," he said.

Gasoline Price Forecast:
More 'Up' Than 'Down'

By RALPH LUTZ
Staff Writer

Pump prices of gasoline probably will increase about Friday, Aug. 1, but come down a bit by the end of the year as the Ford administration and Congress compromise on energy legislation.

Four Dads
Ordered
To Pay

A Berrien circuit court judge this week handed down ultimatums to four fathers behind in their child support payments—make the payments and reduce the arrearages or spend some time in jail.

George Westfield, Berrien friend of the court, reported the child of only one of the four men is on ADC.

Judge William S. White ordered Robert B. Axelson, of 1265 St. Joseph road, Berrien Springs, to pay the $800 arrearage he owes for one child not on ADC within 90 days or spend 90 days in jail. White also cited Axelson for contempt of court for failing to pay child support.

White gave Ronnie B. McCabe, of Grand Junction, 30 days to find work and start making payments or McCabe is to spend 30 days in jail for $1,750 arrearage for one child on ADC. In addition, the judge found McCabe in contempt of court, placed him on one year probation, and told him to execute a wage assignment, should he find work, of $10 weekly support and $5 weekly toward the arrearage.

Douglas R. Cour, of 609 Market street, St. Joseph, was not found in contempt by White, but he was ordered to pay the arrearage of $1,250 for two children not on ADC within 90 days or spend a like number of days in jail. He was also ordered to continue paying $52 weekly in child support.

Raymond L. Andersen, Jr., of California road, Dowagiac, was found in contempt and placed on one year probation for $1,597 arrearage for two children not on ADC. He was ordered to make payments of $30 weekly support and $5 towards the arrearage. White told Andersen if no payments are made Andersen will be sentenced to 90 days in jail.

His Wife's
Name Is Susan

Roger Jones' wife was incorrectly identified in an article in this newspaper July 24. His wife's name is Susan Jones, a St. Joseph Milton junior high school story, was reported in the article as taking seminars at Michigan State university on a State Bar foundation scholarship. The St. Joseph school administration office gave this newspaper another name as his wife.

This is the opinion of Charles Shipley, executive director of the Southfield-based 2,200-member Service Station Dealers association of Michigan. He said his opinion is formed on no adverse moves by the oil producing export (OPEC) nations.

Shipley spoke last night before nearly 100 service station operators from throughout Berrien county at Chickhaven restaurant, St. Joseph township. He was introduced by Ralph Tuttle Jr., a Niles Shell station operator who is president this year of the state association.

During his talk, Shipley didn't indicate how much gasoline would increase about Aug. 1. Asked by a newsmen after the session, Shipley said the Federal Energy administration talks about a 2 to 5-cent price increase under a complicated formula allowing operating cost increases to be passed on to consumers.

Shipley also said he doubted it would be 5 cents, because of public reaction to an average 3-cent-a-gallon increase earlier this month. As to how much the price of gasoline might come down by the end of the year, Shipley said his guess was about 1 cent.

Shipley told the gathering he looks for a compromise soon between the Ford administration and Congress on an energy package. From what the dealers association has learned in Washington, D.C., Shipley said a compromise seems to include the lowering of "new oil" from its current price of $12.50 a barrel to $11.50.

This is oil drawn from wells since 1973. The Ford administration has sought to decontrol lower prices of "old oil," drawn from wells before 1973. Shipley said a schedule of decontrols probably will be tied to the lower price of "new oil" in a compromise.

"Barring any sudden adverse moves by the oil producing nations, there should be no great increase in gasoline prices this year," Shipley told the audience.

In another area, Shipley said it looks like the House by the end of the year will pass a so-called "Dealer's Day in Court" bill that has cleared the Senate at the federal level.

Shipley said this would prohibit oil companies from revoking franchises of dealers without ample reason. He said if a franchise were withdrawn the dealer could go to court and the burden of proof would be on the oil company.

Shipley said major oil companies have hampered dealers through price regulations and forced promotions for sales.

Shipley gave poor marks in dealer representation to the Ford administration, as well as to U.S. Reps. Edward Hutchinson, St. Joseph, and Guy Vander Jagt, of Luther, whose Ninth District also is in western Michigan. He termed them "Ford administration loyalists."

At the state level, Shipley gave high marks to 44th District Rep. Ray Milton of Niles. Shipley said Milton worked in the state House to help defeat a bill that would have required all service stations to post prices on signs outside of pumps.

Shipley said the bill looked like it would become law, but dealers worked against it and it was defeated in the House by a 79-24 margin.

Dealers opposed this, Shipley said, because of wide variations in gasoline prices. Shipley said the variation up to 10 cents a gallon should not exist. He said

Tuesday in the Detroit area; an Arco station was advertising regular gasoline at 52 cents a gallon, while a Texaco station listed 54.9 cents per gallon.

Shipley said the dealers' association is asking the Federal Trade commission to check these out because the association alleges these stations are not selling their name product gasoline, but some other brand.

Mrs. Cooke Plans To Appeal Suit Dismissal

Mrs. Donna Cooke has announced that she intends to appeal the judicial decision dismissing her $300 civil suit against Benton Harbor City Commissioner Carl Brown.

The suit, charging harassment and defamation of character, was filed in August, 1974, and dismissed Monday by Berrien Fifth District Judge Hugh Black, who found no cause for action.

Mrs. Cooke, administrative assistant in the Benton Harbor mayor-commissioner office, said Tuesday in a written statement that she has "begun the legal process to appeal the decision."

"I will continue to use the judicial process," she said, "although Judge Black's decision was not rendered through the full judicial process. I was not notified for an appearance or of the scheduled hearing. I have attempted to receive information from the Fifth District Court and personally appeared concerning a court date."

She did not explain what steps she had taken to start the appeal process.

SALADS FOR WARM WEATHER MOODS

Cool Ideas For Summer Days

Summer days are salad days, and an eye-catching main-dish salad can be a time-saver as well as the perfect answer to those warm-weather moods. Chicken Fiesta is a classic example of a recipe hearty enough for hungry people yet it's simple to prepare and easy on the budget. It combines macaroni, which is about 12 percent protein, with cooked chicken, colorful greens, tomatoes and olives. Refrigerate until dinner time and serve with hot rolls and iced tea or coffee.

CHICKEN FIESTA SALAD

8 ounces (2 cups) elbow macaroni
1 cup mayonnaise
1/4 cup light cream
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 cup sliced celery
1 tablespoon minced scallions
2 cups sliced cooked chicken
1/2 cup sliced stuffed olives
Salad greens
Tomato wedges
Green pepper slices
Cook macaroni as directed on package; drain in colander. Rinse with cold water; drain again. Meanwhile, in large bowl, combine mayonnaise, cream, salt, pepper, celery and scallions. Add macaroni, chicken and olives; mix lightly. Serve on greens; garnish with tomato and green pepper. Six servings.

An interesting two-some of cabbage and macaroni makes a tasty summer side-dish for any occasion.

MELLOW MACARONI SLAW

8 ounces (2 cups) elbow macaroni
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 1/2 cups sliced celery
1 1/2 cups finely shredded cabbage
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/4 cup chopped pimiento
Lettuce leaves
Radish roses
Lemon wedges
Cook macaroni as directed on package; drain in colander. Rinse with cold water; drain again. Mix mayonnaise with lemon juice, salt and pepper. Combine with macaroni, celery, cabbage, green pepper and pimiento; mix thoroughly. Chill. Serve on lettuce leaves, with radish roses and lemon wedges for garnish. Six to eight servings.

Salmon or tuna joins with sea-shell macaroni for another salad main dish especially suited to warm-weather meals.

SEASIDE SALAD

8 ounces (2 1/2 to 4 cups) sea-shell macaroni
1/2 cup finely chopped celery
1/2 cup shredded carrot
1/4 cup chopped green pepper or pimiento
1 tablespoon chopped fresh dill (or 1 teaspoon dillweed)
1 teaspoon minced onion
1 can (7-oz.) salmon or tuna, drained and flaked
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup sour cream
Salt and pepper to taste
Shredded salad greens
Watercress
2 tomatoes, cut in wedges
1 jar (8-oz.) herring fillets, drained
1 lemon, thinly sliced
Paprika
Cook macaroni as directed on package; drain in colander. Rinse with cold water; drain again. Combine with celery, carrot, green pepper, dill and onion; add salmon or tuna. In small bowl blend mayonnaise and sour cream until smooth; add salt and pepper; toss with macaroni mixture. Pack into lightly oiled bowl; cover with foil and chill two hours or more. Unmold carefully onto serving platter. Surround with greens and watercress. Form a border of tomato wedges and herring pieces. Garnish with lemon slices. Sprinkle top with paprika for color. Serve cold. Four to six servings.

All of us are trying for the light touch lately—light on the pocketbook and light on work. Here's a good tasting casserole that uses frozen or fresh vegetables, depending upon which are least expensive and saucy cannot lasagna. Use canned lasagna, or try canned spaghetti or ravioli. All of these pastas with their tomatoey sauces combine well with vegetables to save you time and trouble.

For a start to the buffet, arrange shrimp and cherry tomatoes on skewers for dipping in a zippy curry sauce.

SUMMER GARDEN LASAGNA
2 packages (10-oz. each)
Brown broccoli florets, or 1

bunch fresh broccoli, cooked and drained
1 cup sliced zucchini, or 1 package frozen zucchini, sliced, cooked and drained
1 cup sliced onion
1 cup sliced celery
1 tablespoon cooking oil
2 cans (15-oz. each) lasagna
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon butter or margarine
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
Saute zucchini, onions and celery in one tablespoon oil until lightly browned. Stir in lasagna and nutmeg; cover, simmer for 10 minutes. Meanwhile, cook broccoli florets according to package directions. Drain; saute in one teaspoon butter. Toss with lemon juice and garlic powder. Garnish lasagna dish with seasoned broccoli florets. Serves six.

Want a hot meal on a hot day without bottling up the kitchen? Cooking out on the charcoal grill is the easy answer. Put those charcoal coals to work when preparing foods other than barbecued meats and poultry. Covered dishes such as stews, casseroles and grilled vegetables take on a special flavor when done outdoors over charcoal. For example, try a Spicy Spaghetti Pot prepared in a Dutch oven and you'll also enjoy the different taste of Ember Roasted Corn. Both are foods to do to make use of hot coals that often are wasted after initial grilling of hot dogs or hamburgers.

SPICY SPAGHETTI POT

1 pound ground beef
1 envelope (2-oz.) dry spaghetti sauce mix
1 can (8-oz.) tomato paste
1 can (10-oz.) tomato juice
4 cups water
8 ounces uncooked spaghetti, broken in half
In four-quart Dutch oven, brown ground beef over medium-hot charcoal coals. Stir in spaghetti mix, tomato paste, tomato juice and water. Cover and cook over coals until mixture boils, about 10 minutes. Slowly stir spaghetti into tomato mixture. Cook uncovered until spaghetti is tender, stirring often. Makes four servings.

EMBER ROASTED CORN

Gently pull husks halfway down ears of corn. Remove all silk. Sprinkle with unsalted water (salted water makes corn tough). Pull husks back over kernels and twist. Place corn around edge of hot coals, turn frequently with tongs until corn is tender, about 20 minutes. Remove husks. Serve immediately with butter, salt and pepper.

France is famous for its wonderful soups, made from rich broths and simple ingredients. Vichyssoise, the classic potato and leek soup, is no exception. Smooth as cream and served icy cold, it makes a refreshing, light appetizer, lunch or dinner soup. Although created by a French chef and named after the famous resort town of his childhood, Vichyssoise actually originated in New York City. Chef Louis Diat of the Ritz-Carlton Hotel developed the recipe from a favorite potato soup his mother prepared when he was growing up.

The classic Vichyssoise is truly delicious. Unfortunately, it's also rather high in calories for those who are counting. Contrary to popular opinion, though, it's not the potatoes that make Vichyssoise so rich. A medium potato actually has fewer than 100 calories. It's the heavy cream and butter that add the excess calories.

Dieters can still enjoy this luscious soup, though, with just a few variations in the recipe. Creamy evaporated skim milk, for example, replaces the rich heavy cream of the classic recipe in this Svelte Vichyssoise. Chicken broth, a dash of spicy Tabasco sauce, onion, chives and lemon juice add the perfect balance of flavors for virtually no calories. Much easier to make but just as smooth as the classic, Svelte Vichyssoise features instant potato flakes or granules for the potato base. Total calories per serving? Only 100.

Serve this rich-and-creamy, milkshake-style in a tall glass with a scoop of plain yogurt and green onion stir for garnish. It's delicious with a light main dish salad topped with summer fruits and vegetables.

SVELTE VICHYSOISE

Instant potato flakes or granules for 2 bowl-cup servings
One-third cup evaporated skim milk
1 can (10 3/4-oz.) chicken broth

1 teaspoon grated onion
1 teaspoon dried chives
1/4 teaspoon Tabasco sauce
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 cup plain yogurt (optional)
Green onions (optional)
Prepare mashed potatoes as package directs except substitute water for the milk and omit butter. With wire whisk, stir remaining ingredients into mashed potatoes. (Or whirl in blender for five seconds.) Add salt to taste. Chill at least two hours to serve icy cold. If desired, top with a dollop of yogurt and green onion garnish. Makes four 3/4-cup servings.

A refreshing gelatin fruit salad proves a welcome entree or dessert treat during warm days. One that mixes grapes, mandarin oranges, coconut and walnuts has flavor treats for the most finicky eaters.

GRAPE AMBROSIA

1 package (3-oz.) strawberry flavor gelatin
2 cups boiling water
1 cup sour cream
1 cup miniature marshmallows
1 can (11-oz.) mandarin oranges, drained
2 cups grapes, stemmed, halved and seeded
1/4 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
1/2 can (3 1/2-oz.) toasted coconut
In mixing bowl, dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Pour into 8-inch cake pan. Chill until firm. Meanwhile, mix together remaining ingredients, except coconut. Cut chilled gelatin into cubes. Fold into mixture. Store in refrigerator until serving time. Garnish with toasted coconut. Makes 6 servings.

May substitute whipped topping mix for sour cream. Follow package directions.
Alternate Method: When jello is syrupy, beat with electric mixer rotary beater until frothy. Fold in sour cream or substitute and proceed as directed above. Chill until set.

Molded salads and desserts prove favorites of those who enjoy the texture and refreshing taste of chilled foods during warm days. A chicken mousse with cucumber sauce and a cherry salad ring are do-ahead dishes that also keep well in the refrigerator for snacking or they can be served more than one day. A new ring mold makes it easier to turn out gelatin or molded treats without damage.

CHICKEN MOUSSE

3-oz. package lemon gelatin dessert
1 cup hot water
1 cup reserved juice from 16-oz. can light seedless grapes (plus cold water, if needed)
1/2 cucumber (sliced, but not peeled)
2 cups diced cooked chicken
2 tablespoons chopped stuffed olives
1 (16-oz.) can light seedless grapes
1/2 cup finely chopped celery
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup sour cream
2 tablespoons lemon juice

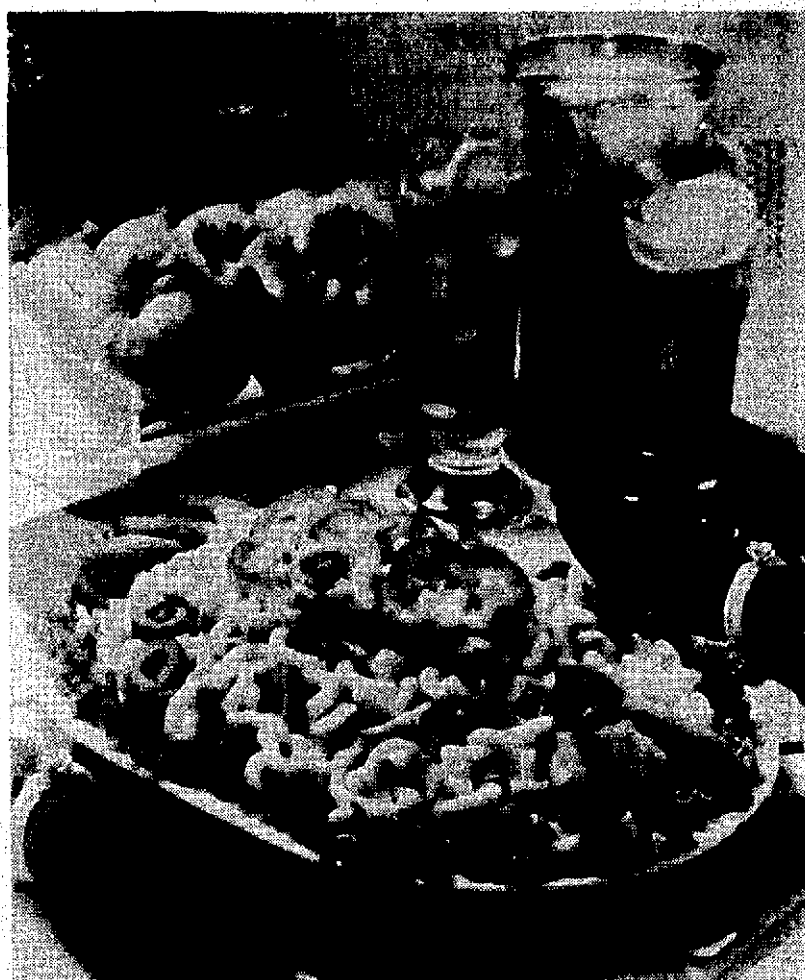

1 teaspoon salt
Stand thin slices of cucumber around side of Jel-A-Ring mold. Dissolve gelatin in 1 cup hot water. Add 1 cup reserved juice. Carefully spoon a little gelatin mixture into mold to set slices. Refrigerate until gelatin is completely hardened. Combine chicken, chopped olives, grapes and celery. Spoon into mold. Combine remaining gelatin, mayonnaise, sour cream, lemon juice and salt. Pour into mold and refrigerate until firm. Serve with Cucumber Sauce. Serves 10 to 12.

CUCUMBER SAUCE

1/2 cup sour cream
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup finely diced cucumber
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Combine and serve chilled.

CHERRY SALAD RING

3-oz. package black cherry gelatin dessert
1 cup hot water
1 cup juice from cherries
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2-oz. non-dairy whipped topping
No. 303 can dark sweet pitted cherries, drained
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind
Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add juice. Refrigerate until syrupy. Fold in mayonnaise and whipped topping. Fold in remaining ingredients and spoon into Jel-A-Ring mold. Refrigerate until firm. Serves 10 to 12.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Handling A 'No-Show'

Dear Ann Landers: I'm not asking for help. I just hope certain people will see themselves and shape up.

Recently you printed a letter about a friend who was always late. Well, I have a relative who is NEVER late. She just doesn't show up. More often than not, she will phone 20 minutes before I leave the house and say, "I just can't make it."

Frequently when I arrive at the place we were supposed to meet, there will be a message. "Sorry — something came up at the last minute."

It's impossible to discontinue our relationship because she's a member of the family — and sensitive, to boot. What can I do? — Slow Burn

Dear S.B.: Those frequent "no shows" are a sad breed. Often they make dates in advance, fully intending to keep them, but when the time comes they can't seem to get it all together.

Simply plan around such people. Assume they aren't going to make it. When they do it will be a pleasant surprise.

No Cutting

Dear Ann Landers: Recently a woman wrote to ask what to do about excessive perspiration. She said it was ruining her life. She claimed the perspiration virtually poured from under her arms and ruined her clothing. Even the rubberized shields didn't help. The poor thing had tried every anti-perspirant on the market without success.

You told her she might have hyperhidrosis and urged her to go to a dermatologist who had the patience and know-how to stick with her until he found a formula that worked.

Why didn't you mention the possibility of surgery? A friend of mine had the same problem and solved it by having the ganglion nerves removed. How about it? — Wanting To Help

Dear Wanting: Surgery should be the very last resort. Too many unnecessary operations are performed in this country as it is.

I'm not about to add to the number by suggesting surgery for excessive perspiration. My advice is — get the opinions of three dermatologists. If two of the three deem your case extremely severe — and can find no chemical solution — let THEM suggest surgery.

Blame Parents

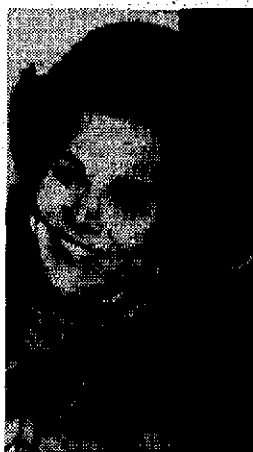

Dear Ann Landers: I'll bet you received a ton of mail from people who were mad at that man who wrote to say he didn't dislike cats or dogs — it was children he couldn't stand. He then went on to say that most parents are scared to death of their kids, that the little monsters run the households and American children are the most spoiled, obnoxious brats on the face of the earth.

That idiot missed the central point. It's not the kids who are to blame, it's the parents. Children aren't born obnoxious. They get that way because Mom and Dad don't have gumption enough to set limits and say "NO." It's up to the parents to see that their children conduct themselves in an acceptable manner. So why didn't you set the record straight? — Just Asking

Dear Just: I DID say it — for the umpteenth time. But I'll say it again. I know of nothing more pathetic than a hostile, obnoxious child. He is shunned and unwelcome. He is also miserable and lonely.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers's booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Observes 93rd Birthday

MRS. ANTOINETTE SVEJDA

NEW BUFFALO — Mrs. Antoinette Svejda, 232 South Barker street, New Buffalo, entertained friends and neighbors at her home July 24 in observance of her 93rd birthday.

Mrs. Svejda was born July 24, 1882, in Prague, Czechoslovakia, and moved to New Buffalo 54 years ago from Chicago.

She and her husband, James, who died 22 years ago, operated a summer resort in New Buffalo in the 1920's and 30's and later owned and operated a grocery store.

Mrs. Svejda has one son, Otto, of New Buffalo, and one grandson.

She maintains her own home and enjoys cooking and baking.

My daughter has unusually painful menstrual periods. Besides the ordinary pills, is there anything else that can be done to relieve her of these pains?

Mrs. G.L., Ind.

Dear Mrs. L.: Painful menstrual periods (dysmenorrhea) are physically and emotionally debilitating to adolescents and adults. Besides the pain that occurs at the time of menstruation, there is also the anticipation of the constant recurring cycle of pain. This can become a severe psychological burden.

A number of physical exercises have been tried, with great success. Dr. Leib J. Golub, of the Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia, devised a series of exercises that brought immeasurable comfort to girls who were in distress during the menstrual period.

The exercise was described in this way: "In a standing position, with the arms raised sideward at shoulder height, the trunk is turned to one side. The knees are kept straight while the girl, twisting and bending her trunk, touches her foot with the opposite hand."

"An attempt, too, is made to reach around the outer side of the foot and touch the heel."

The exercise is repeated four times. This is slowly increased to about ten times. The entire cycle of exercise can be done three or four times a day.

These uncomplicated exercises have reduced the pain and brought relief from uncomplicated dysmenorrhea.

This program should be tried only after a thorough medical examination rules out any physical reason for the unusual pain.

I am sure that the ringing in my ears is due to trouble in my teeth. If this is possible I would gladly have all my teeth taken out. I am 64.

Mr. T.N.O., Tenn.

Dear Mr. O.: Before embarking on such irreversible dental surgery you must, of course, seek the combined advice of your doctor and your dentist.

Ringing noises, or "tinnitus," can be very distressing. Far too often, the exact cause is not established and patients consequently resort to methods of treatment that might be hazardous and valueless.

Your belief that your teeth are the basic reason for your problem is, at best, speculative. I doubt that there is any validity to this.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled "Alcoholism — A Family Disease." It probes this grave problem and offers hopeful advice. For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D., (Alcoholism booklet), P.O. Box 5178, Grand Central Station, New York City 10017. Please mention the booklet by title.

Blackwood is not really a method of bidding tricks. It is a method of checking for aces after you have counted enough trick-taking potential to make a small or even a grand slam.

Thus, you should plan to bid six any time your partner's response shows that your side holds three aces.

If his response shows that you hold all four aces you may settle for six, invite seven or even bid seven.

The normal way to invite seven is to follow up your four notrump with five notrump. This follow-up asks for kings in the same manner four notrump has asked for aces. Six clubs shows zero or four kings, six diamonds one king, six hearts two kings and six spades three kings.

It is important to bear in mind that when you ask for kings you are guaranteeing that your side holds all the aces.

This makes it possible for the partner of the Blackwood to take charge when he has the right cards. It wasn't hard for North to count to 13 tricks after South's bids of four and five notrump. Then since the game was match points, North bid the grand slam in notrump. Ten points means nothing in rubber bridge — in duplicate it may mean the difference between a good score and a top.

No Pocket For Change

Nudity just isn't catching on in this country.

Oh, I know you've all read stories about America's 5,000 miles of beaches dotted with bared bodies under the sun, but it ends there. And the reasons have nothing to do with modesty, prudery, or the law.

The simple truth is, nudity is impractical. Face it. We live in a wicker chair - nine months of winter - have the correct change - world. If you don't believe it, ask yourself: Would you hire a man who didn't have a pocket to carry his Social Security card in?

Would you date a man who had to carry his American Express card behind his ear? Would you marry a man who checked into a motel without luggage?

Blending into the labor market has been tried by unclothed people and failed miserably. Some of them have turned to a life of crime only to experience more disappointment. Day after day you read stories of streaking bank robbers who are apprehended minutes after their get-away. It seems no matter how a person wearing only brown shoes and carrying a small black bag tries to "lose" himself in a crowd, he's always spotted.

A few unclothed persons have gotten temporary work by running across a football field during a game or appearing unexpectedly at awards ceremonies, but it's seasonal work.

The country just isn't geared toward people who are unclothed. If we were to "go native," it would throw everything out of balance.

1. Turnstiles in supermarkets would have to be heated.

2. Pickpockets would starve.

3. Mr. Blackwell would have to amend his list and come out with the Ten Worst-Dressed Women In America.

4. Disney movies in which animals appeared with clothes on would have to have parental guidance and discretion.

5. Cher would have to wear puffed sleeves and cover her navel to get attention.

6. A common Band-Aid would be considered costume jewelry. But worst of all, most of us would be greeted not with "How are you?" but "What Happened?"

I couldn't stand that.

State Senate Sidelines Sex Education Till Fall

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill to permit the teaching of birth control in Michigan schools is being set aside until this fall.

Supporters and opponents of the bill gathered Tuesday at the state Senate for another round of the emotional topic, but the Senate postponed further consideration until Oct. 7.

The legislature is expected to adjourn next week for a belated summer recess, and the lawmakers won't return until late September or early October.

As he delayed action on his bill, Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, also offered several amendments which he said would make the bill more acceptable to its critics.

The bill was defeated two weeks ago but is up for another vote. Bursley said his amendments might give him the votes needed for passage.

The key amendment would permit a school district, in conjunction with the local health department, to draft guidelines on teaching birth control, sex hygiene and venereal disease in health classes. Under the bill as now drafted, the state Board of Education and Department of Public Health would draw up the guidelines.

Bursley said the increased emphasis on local control would reduce opposition to the bill. But its original intention would remain unaltered.

Presently, the teaching of contraception is banned in sex education or health classes. The Senate has been the scene of intense lobbying by women both in support and in opposition to the bill.

The measure has repeatedly failed to gain passage during the past few years, as it has become a center of controversy each time.

Sen. Alvin DeGrow, R-Pigeon, opposed delaying action on the bill.

"It just means you'll have both sides on your neck for three more months," DeGrow said. "That bill is dead."

The Senate also delayed action on two other controversial measures until after summer recess, thus clearing the decks for consideration of the new budget and other major measures.

Canoe Operators To Fight

A spokesman for canoe livery operators in the Grayling area said that if the arrests are made, they will be challenged in court.

Legislature Passes Transit Bill

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislation to upgrade public transportation in Michigan and to save endangered rail lines has been approved by the Michigan Legislature.

Final passage was also given Tuesday to a bill repealing Michigan's "fair trade" law, which kept prices on some consumer goods artificially high. All three bills cleared the Senate and went to Gov. Milliken for his signature.

The House, meanwhile, approved a downtown development authority bill, to increase the bonding power of the Michigan State Housing Development Authority, and three budget bills.

The public transportation measure would authorize the state to sell $150 million in bonds. Coupled with $30 million from the state trunkline fund, a $180 million program would be established for transportation construction over the next four years.

In addition, the state would be eligible for some $670 million in federal matching money.

The funds would be used for rapid transit systems in the Detroit metropolitan area, intercity rail and bus projects, bus systems and Dial-A-Ride programs.

Some of the money would be used to subsidize rail lines threatened with abandonment under a federal rail reorganization plan. The subsidy was authorized in the second bill passed by the Senate.

The measure would authorize the State Highway Commission to subsidize — with federal help on a 50-50 basis — rail and rail car ferry services which are threatened with elimination. The federal plan proposes to abandon some 1,200 miles of track in Michigan.

The fair trade bill repeals next year a Depression-era law which established minimum prices on certain brand name goods. Such restrictions were designed to keep small businesses from being under-sold by large chains, but supporters argued it has become little more than legalized "price fixing."

The House approved an additional $400 million in bonding power for the Michigan State Housing Development Authority to sponsor construction and rehabilitation of 15,000 homes.

That measure was approved 50-37, along with a bill to spur the redevelopment of sagging downtown districts in cities across the state.

Slight 'Overall' Increase

DETROIT (AP) — Despite a record loss at Chrysler Corp., a boost in earnings at General Motors apparently paced the nation's beleaguered auto industry to a slight overall profit during the spring quarter.

GM Tuesday reported profits of $333 million for the period, or $1.14 a share, up 8 per cent from $306 million in the same year-ago period. Sales in the second quarter were up 12 per cent to $9.3 billion.

Still stumbling from the effects of the recession, Chrysler reported a April-June loss of $58.7 million, or 98 cents a share.

It was the fourth consecutive quarterly loss for Chrysler, which has gone $234 million into the red since the third period of 1974, most among U.S. manufacturers.

In a somewhat gloomy projection for the current three-month period, Chrysler officials said "adverse pressures on earnings will continue through the third quarter" because of a slow recovery in new-car sales.

GM profits were more than five-fold its anemic earnings of $39 million in the first quarter, the worst first-quarter performance in 29 years for the world's largest manufacturer.

For the first half of the year, GM profits of $392 million, or $1.34 a share, were off 8 per cent from $426 million a year ago — lowest for a first half in 17 years.

Chrysler lost $152.8 million in the first six months as dollar sales dropped 3.5 per cent from a year ago.

Ford Motor Co. reports its financial results on Thursday. American Motors Corp., which releases its quarterly performance next week, said Tuesday the firm would report a profit for the period.

Milliken Turns Off Welfare Office Bugs

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken ordered a halt to telephone monitoring at the state Social Services Department on Tuesday. But Milliken defended its use at three other state agencies.

The governor revealed that the state Licensing and Regulation Department frequently records conversations between employees and consumers with complaints about licensed professionals. The tape recordings occur without an electronic "beeper-tone," which is in violation of telephone company regulations.

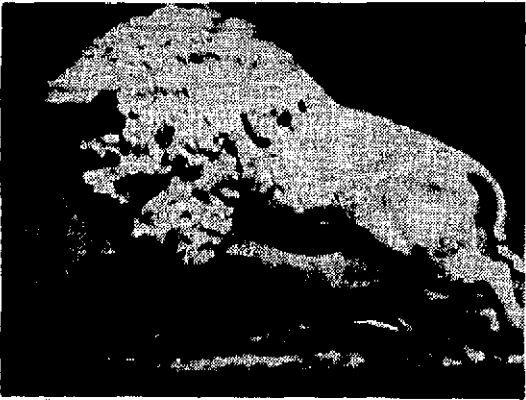

Milliken said the tape recordings could continue if the agency installs a "beep-tone," which reminds both parties they are being recorded.

State Police phone operators and operators at the state Management and Budget Department listen in on conversations at those two agencies, but the governor said it was done only for training purposes.

Sen. Dale Kildee, D-Flint, was dissatisfied with the governor's report, but Kildee refrained from criticizing Milliken directly.

Kildee said the governor may not have been advised of the "capabilities of the equipment"

Civil Rights Chief Blasts State Units

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State agencies involved in the education system have done more to oppose desegregation than to aid it, according to the chairman of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission.

"Involved state agencies have failed utterly to play a meaningful or significant role in either development or implementation of school desegregation," Avern Cohn said Tuesday, citing a commission study.

"It is difficult, if not impossible, to implement school desegregation without the active support of the state agencies," Cohn said.

The school desegregation study released Tuesday offers recommendations for action, beginning with adoption of a state policy by Gov. William Milliken, the state Board of Education and the Civil Rights Commission.

"This should spell out guidelines to define unlawful practices, and it should provide objectives that can be measured," Cohn said.

The study is based on a March public hearing and Department of Civil Rights research, Cohn said.

Neither Milliken nor state departments want people or statements to the hearing, Cohn said.

"Further, no state policy has been announced to support desegregation of racially segregated schools, and the 1968 joint policy statement of the Board of Education and the Civil Rights Commission has not been enforced in any school district engaging in segregative practices," Cohn said.

The study also shows that neither the state board nor the commission has published guidelines defining unlawful segregative practices or offering objectives for measuring compliance with desegregation plans, Cohn said.

Democrat Chief Asks New State Primary Rules

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The chairman of Michigan's Democratic Party says he wants to change the state's presidential primary to avoid crossover voting, which aided Alabama Gov. George Wallace in his 1972 primary victory.

"The Michigan Democratic Party does not wish to abolish the primary," Morley Winograd insisted Tuesday, in answer to Wallace critics and others who accused the party of trying to kill the presidential primary in Michigan.

Winograd told the House Elections Committee the state should require party registration or, as an alternative, seek changes in selecting precinct delegates to solve "the problem of crossover voting."

According to a Detroit News poll at the time, more than 250,000 Republican voters crossed over party lines in 1972 to vote in the Democratic primary won by Wallace.

"People who do not necessarily have the best interests of the party at heart are participating in the nomination of the party's candidate, thus distorting the results of the primary," said Winograd.

The aim of all the alternatives is to stop non-Democrats from helping name delegates to the national convention, which, under new party rules, would open the door to possible ouster of the state delegation at the national convention.

Winograd's first alternative, the one he prefers, would require party registration for primary voting. Pending legislation would require party registration, which would mean a voter would have to vote in the primary of the party for which he or she was registered.

If the legislation fails, Winograd said the Democratic party will favor a presidential primary with just the names of presidential candidates on the ballot and no precinct delegate contests. Michigan delegates to the national convention would be selected by each presidential candidate in proportion to the percentage of votes received in the primary. The regular election of precinct delegates would take place in August.

The last alternative would be to make precinct delegates declare their presidential preference and abolish the presidential popular contest at the top of the ballot.

11th Hour Plea For Lloyd Home

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Only a last minute development could prevent the palatial Harold Lloyd estate, a relic of Hollywood's Golden Age, from being turned over to the highest bidder today.

The successful bidder appeared to be Nasrolla Ashfani, 60, a retired Iranian electronic parts distributor who offered $1.6 million for the estate and its 44-room Italian Renaissance mansion at an auction on Sunday. Bidding with an unnamed partner, he said he would keep the mansion intact.

Anguished trustees of the estate made an 11th hour plea for help Tuesday to the Beverly Hills City Council, asking the council to turn the home of the former movie comedian into a city museum or tourist attraction. Their efforts apparently failed.

Ford And Brezhnev Report Progress

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — President Ford and Soviet Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev held a 2 1/4-hour summit meeting today and both men declared progress had been made on strategic arms talks and the Middle East.

The two leaders joined in an impromptu news conference outside the American ambassador's residence following the session.

Brezhnev told Ford: "I am very pleased" as the two men shook hands. Ford then told newsmen the meeting, which ran 15 minutes overtime, "was very constructive, very friendly and very businesslike."

Presidential Press Secretary Ron Nessen said the session covered the strategic arms limitation talks, the Middle East and bilateral matters.

Ford said progress had been made and, he added: "I am sure when we meet again Saturday there will be further progress."

The Middle East was not scheduled as part of today's discussions, but officials said the talks went so well that the Arab-Israeli conflict was raised. However, a more detailed exploration of the Middle East will be held Saturday, U.S. officials said.

Both men were asked if the European Security Conference they are attending would add significantly to world peace.

The Soviet leader answered that "I want peace and tranquility to reign in Europe. I want all nations to live in peace and not interfere in each others' affairs."

When asked again if the agreement to be signed Friday would accomplish that goal, Brezhnev answered: "I think so, yes."

The question of interference in each others' affairs had plagued the preliminary work of the conference. The United States had demanded the agreement call for more civil liberties for the people of Eastern Europe.

Ford didn't allude to the issue of civil rights in his answer, saying that peace in general will be enhanced. "I believe over-all that peace in the world" will be helped by the agreement, the President said.

Brezhnev, Ford, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger held the face-to-face talks at the U.S. ambassador's red-brick residence where the President is staying.

As the conference began, Finnish police took into custody six women outside the grounds who demonstrated on behalf of the cause of Soviet Jewry. Brezhnev apparently did not see the sidewalk demonstration.

With American and Soviet parties lined up facing each other over a dining table, Brezhnev spoke of last week's Apollo-Soyuz mission and declared: "We have done a good job in space."

Ford responded: "The handshake in space is indicative of the progress we've been making."

Brezhnev looked fit despite recurrent reports he has been ill, and told Ford and Kissinger his weight has been stable for six months.

Kissinger joked that his own weight is stable within a 22-pound range.

Ford and Kissinger stepped into the driveway of the three-story hillside residence to greet the Soviet delegation. Brezhnev first shook hands formally with the President, then stopped at the President's right hand in a fashion reminiscent of American writers.

Ford Would Drop 60c Oil Tariff

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration is offering to drop a 60-cent tariff on refined petroleum imports if Congress adopts President Ford's plan to decontrol domestic crude oil prices.

Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb said the 60-cent-per-barrel tariff, imposed by Ford when he announced a second tariff for imported crude, affects two million barrels of refined fuels daily.

The lower costs must be passed on to consumers, Zarb said, adding that the end of the tariff would save consumers about $1.2 million each day.

Zarb's proposal, which would leave crude oil tariffs at their present $2-per-barrel level, came after the House Rules Committee cleared the way for full House votes on two key energy proposals.

One measure is a resolution rejecting Ford's latest program for phasing out price controls on oil per cent of U.S.-produced oil. Friday is the deadline for such a vote. The Ford program becomes effective unless killed by a majority in either the House or Senate by then.

The Rules Committee also sent to the House floor an amendment by Rep. Bob Krueger, D-Tex., that would rewrite the Ford decontrol plan and tie it to a windfall profits tax on oilmen.

No specific time was set for the resolution to reject the Ford program, and sources said the vote, expected to be close, would depend on how the House acted on the Krueger amendment.

The Zarb proposal may bring added support to the Ford oil price decontrol plan, especially from states expected to benefit most from the removal of the 60-cent tariff on refined imports.

Those states are California, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Vermont and Virginia, according to federal officials.

The Ford plan would decontrol prices for "old oil" from wells in production before 1972 over a 39-month period with a ceiling of $11.50. Old oil is now controlled at $5.25 per barrel. At the same time, prices for other domestic oil, now at about $13 per barrel would be rolled back to $11.50 and allowed to rise by 5 cents a month beginning Oct. 1.

Ford previously presented a plan, killed by the House, that would have phased out existing price controls over the coming 30 months with a $13.50-per-barrel top applied on prices during that period.

Election Deadlock Eases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tangled New Hampshire election dispute that has snarled the Senate and left New Hampshire with only one U.S. senator since last January may be near a solution because both candidates now agree there should be a new election.

Democrat John A. Durkin was to meet today with Senate Majority leader Mike Mansfield and Majority Whip Robert C. Byrd and ask their support for a new election to decide the closest Senate race in history.

Mansfield and Byrd declined immediate comment on Durkin's announcement Tuesday night that he wants a new election but Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, said that in all probability the request would be granted.

Durkin's Republican opponent, Louis C. Wyman, and many Republican senators have urged a runoff almost from the start. But the Senate Democratic leadership has insisted it is the Senate's responsibility to resolve the dispute because the Constitution specifies that "each house shall be the judge of the elections" of its members. Durkin's surprise announcement that he wants a rerun was a complete reversal of his previous position, expressed as recently as Monday night when he rejected a proposal for a runoff election. After announcing he now wants a new election, Durkin said there "was no pressure, subtle, implied or expressed" from the Democratic leadership. "This was my decision," he said.

It was unclear what led to Durkin's decision, although his statement said the six-year Senate "term will have expired long before the Senate makes up its mind" at its present pace.

After Durkin's announcement, Wyman issued a statement saying he was "pleased that Mr. Durkin wants a new election. I want a new election, and so do the people of New Hampshire."

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott praised Durkin's decision and said the contenders "have accomplished what the Senate could not. The Senate was 'hopelessly ensnared.'"

Berrien Woman Facing Charges In Ontario Crash

LONDON, Ont. — A 19-year-old Berrien Springs woman has been charged with dangerous and careless driving as the result of an accident near here Friday, July 25, which took three lives, Ontario authorities said.

Provincial police at London said Julie Anne Leatz is free on $700 bond. An August 14 hearing was set.

Police said the three-car accident occurred on Kings highway 401 (a freeway) about eight miles east of London at 10:30 a.m. July 25.

Police said the Leatz woman was the driver of a car headed east on the freeway and when she attempted to pass another auto, also traveling east, she apparently lost control, striking the auto she was attempting to pass. The collision caused the driver of the second auto to lose control and that auto traveled across the grassed median of the freeway, colliding with a third auto headed west.

Killed in the accident were Ruth Wagner, 40, and Muriel Royter, 41, both of Toronto, Ont., passengers in the second auto, and the driver of the third auto, William Sturrock, 53, also of Toronto.

Provincial police said the

Jackson Inmate Is Bound Over On Drug Charge In Van Buren

By TOM BENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — Stephen Horace, 22, currently an inmate at Southern Michigan prison in Jackson, was bound over to Van Buren circuit court yesterday on a charge of delivery (sale) of heroin following a preliminary examination in Seventh District court here.

Horace was arrested by state police from South Haven as part of a crackdown on alleged illegal drug sales in the South Haven area in May, before he was sent to prison following a conviction on a charge of larceny from a building. Bound was reduced from $20,000 to $10,000.

In other cases, three persons waived preliminary examination to charges of breaking and entering in connection with the alleged July 9 entry of a Covert township cottage.

Arrested by Covert township officers were Charles Yeager, 18, route 1, Hartford; Cecil Riddle, 23, and his wife Jeanette Riddle, 20, 40th avenue, Covert.

They originally had demanded a preliminary examination to the charges. The three were arrested as officers observed a car leaving fire lane 4 near Blue Star Memorial highway. The officers had been called to the area to investigate a reported burglary in progress. A number of appliances believed taken from cottages in the area were found in the car.

Two men demanded preliminary examinations when arraigned on charges stemming from a shooting at a city of South Haven park earlier this month.

Jeffrey Chandler, 22, route 1,

South Haven and Elmer Lee Chandler, 24, route 1, South Haven were arraigned on charges of assault less than murder. Another man, Samuel Merriweather of South Haven, demanded a preliminary examination on a similar charge in connection with the same incident last week. The shooting stemmed from an argument alleged to have occurred between Merriweather and the Chandlers. During the alleged argument two women in a nearby park were wounded by pellets from a shotgun that was fired.

Michael Shine, 17, route 2, Bangor pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of entering without permission. Shine had originally been charged with breaking and entering in connection with a July 16 entry of an Arlington township residence. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

Three Face Trial In Van Buren

PAW PAW — William H. Maloney, 17, and Johnny Lee Brown, 17, both of Hartford, were bound over to Van Buren circuit court yesterday after waiving preliminary examination in Seventh district court on charges of breaking and entering.

The two were arrested by state police at Paw Paw in connection with a July 17 break-in at Fieser's Grocery, Keeler, in which an assortment of merchandise, including pocket knives, wrist watches, a cigarette lighter, and radio and tape player were reported stolen.

Both Maloney and Brown were freed on their own recognizance.

In other cases, David Junior Mitchell, 18, Lawton, was bound over to circuit court following preliminary examination on a charge of larceny in a building.

The charge against Mitchell stems from the theft of $10 in change from the Antwerp township home of Robert Allen July 16.

Mitchell's bond was continued at $1,000.

Joan Hefington, 38, Borland, Mo., pleaded guilty to an amended charge of simple assault and was sentenced by Judge William C. Bush to serve 90 days in the county jail. Hefington initially had been charged with resisting arrest. The charge was filed by Hartford police after officers there said a motorist had resisted when they attempted to take him into custody on a charge of reckless driving.

Political Reform Vote Likely

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The chairman of a Senate committee has scheduled for today a crucial vote on a major political reform bill.

Sen. Patrick McCollough, D-Deerborn, led his Municipalities and Elections Committee through dozens of amendments to the bill again Tuesday, but agreed to put off a vote on the bill for a day.

It is expected the committee will report the bill to the full Senate with little trouble, since it is supported by leaders of both parties and by Gov. William Milliken.

"I am hopeful we'll have the votes and they'll be bipartisan," McCollough said Tuesday. "Tomorrow we act, one way or another."

The sweeping House-passed bill would permit partial public financing of gubernatorial campaigns, redraw campaign donation and spending rules, regulate lobbyists and force financial disclosure by public officials.

Senate Republican Leader Robert Davis of Gaylord said the GOP is preparing more amendments to the bill, and would have them ready today. Both the scores of amendments so far adopted and the Republican proposals are described as minor alterations.

Lawmakers are working under a Common Cause threat to pass the bill before summer adjournment or face an even tougher measure on the 1976 ballot for the people to approve.

In one of the more substantial amendments, the committee voted Tuesday to include in the bill a special legislative committee on conflict of interest. The committee — which last year investigated accusations against former state Rep. John Smeekens of Coldwater — was established under a 1968 law, which would be repealed.

The reform bill contains numerous mentions of the committee, so it was drafted into the measure to avoid contradictions between it and the 1968 law.

Despite the broad support for the bill, McCollough is not sure just where his three votes will come from to report the bill. With one Democrat — Sen. Arthur Cartwright of Detroit — opposed so far, he is depending on Sen. Robert Young, R-Saginaw, to vote to report it.

Should Young not be persuaded by GOP leaders to lend his support, McCollough said, the Democratic caucus can write Cartwright's vote for the bill.

Cartwright urged Tuesday that further action on the bill be delayed until fall. "This bill is too important to run through," he said.

He lost on a 2-3 vote, with Young voting with McCollough and Sen. Kerry Karmner, D-Pontiac, to oppose the delay.

Voting with Cartwright, and pledged to oppose the bill, is Sen. John Welborn, R-Kalamazoo.

Meanwhile, the League of Women Voters urged quick passage of the bill, saying it was preferable to holding a referendum to place the issue on the ballot.

State Senator Surprised By Probe

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State Sen. Thomas Guastello, declaring "I haven't done anything wrong," says he was unaware of a reported federal probe on allegations he interfered in a criminal investigation.

The Sterling Heights Democrat professed complete ignorance of such an investigation. He said he only knew what reporters had told him when they called for comment, and said he believes the investigation may be politically motivated.

A Detroit radio station said Tuesday the federal crime strike force in Detroit and the FBI were investigating Guastello. It did not say who made the allegation, and said the probe is on "shaky ground."

Station WXYZ said U.S. Atty. Ralph Guy refused to confirm or deny its report.

Guastello, who held a news conference in his Capitol office, said a reporter told him the investigation centered around his defense of Donald Ashley in three different criminal cases. Guastello is an attorney with an office in Mount Clemens.

"At no time did I do anything improper in representing a client," the slight, bespectacled Guastello said. "It's distressing to have your name brought up like this."

Guastello also said he had not appeared before a grand jury and has had no contact with federal officials.

Guastello said he has defended Ashley in a 1972 robbery of a Warren K-Mart store; on a U.S. bank robbery charge; and on a charge of possession of stolen property.

The latter two cases were dismissed, he said, while the robbery charge is pending in Macomb County Circuit Court. Guastello has filed to withdraw as Ashley's attorney in that case, saying legislative business in Lansing makes it impossible to attend a three-week trial.

But Guastello said nothing in his defense actions or his motion to withdraw as attorney could be construed as obstruction of justice or interfering with an investigation.

"It's embarrassing," Guastello said. "If there is an investigation ... there are no improprieties on my part. I wish them well in their investigation."

AFTER the first armed clashes of the Revolution, the patriots made one more attempt to settle their grievances with Great Britain by means short of war. The Olive Branch Petition written by John Dickinson, was adopted on July 5, 1775 by the delegates of the Continental Congress and carried to London by Loyalist Richard Penn. The petition reiterated the grievances of the colonists but professed their attachment to the king, expressed the desire for a restoration of harmony and begged the king to prevent further hostile action until a reconciliation could be worked out. Penn reached London on Aug. 14. On Nov. 9 the Congress learned that George III had refused to see him or receive the petition. The World Almanac recalls.

Drug Raids Carried Out

ESCANABA, Mich. (AP) — Fifteen persons were arrested Tuesday in a series of drug raids conducted by five police agencies in the Upper Peninsula, according to Delta County Prosecutor Tony Marchlewicz. He said 13 others still were sought. Forty-one felony warrants were issued for 26 men and two women in their early and mid 20s, he said.

The charges include sale and delivery of marijuana, LSD, amphetamines, barbiturates and cocaine.

Pair Gone; Case Dismissed

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A breaking and entering charge against a South Haven man was dismissed by Van Buren Circuit Court Judge David Anderson Jr. yesterday after the prosecution failed to produce two key witnesses in the man's trial.

Anderson dismissed the charge against David Bowden, 21, who had been charged with breaking and entering the North Side Grocery, South Haven, May 11, 1974.

The two witnesses, both of whom witnessed the alleged break-in, were identified as Phillip Shawa and Jack Goforth, by Assistant Prosecutor George Dunn, who said neither man could be located after they had been endorsed on the list of witnesses.

Defense Atty. Daniel French of Cassopolis argued that not being able to cross-examine Shawa and Goforth would be prejudicial to his client's case.

Bowden was sentenced by Anderson in April to serve from 5 to 10 years in state prison as a result of his conviction by a circuit court jury on a charge of arson stemming from a Nov. 20 fire at Lappo Lumber company, South Haven, which did an estimated $500,000 damage.

Ironically, Anderson had denied a motion by French July 21 that Anderson disqualify himself as trial judge in the breaking and entering case. French had argued then that Anderson had made several rulings in the arson case that he alleged demonstrated prejudice against Bowden.

Old-Time Craftsmen Sought For Festival

NILES — Niles Jaycees are seeking people who can demonstrate old time crafts and sell their products during the Niles Apple festival Oct. 11. Among craftsmen being sought are those who have knowledge of quilting, spinning, wool dyeing, brown making, pottery, candle dipping and others. The craft demonstrations would be part of "Ye Olde Village Square" to be established during the festival, a Jaycee spokesman said. Those interested should contact Mrs. Douglas Boyd, 3178 Detroit road or Mrs. James Youcurn, 1421 Regent street, both of Niles, according to Jaycees.

Hartford Park Site For Wallace Rally

A Wallace for President rally will be held Saturday at Edgewater park, Hartford, according to William Cobb of Riverside, chairman of the Wallace committee in the Fourth Congressional district.

Refreshments will be sold or families may bring picnic lunches. Bumper stickers and buttons will be available, and there will be an auction of books and pictures autographed by Wallace, along with signature pens used by Wallace and other items, Cobb said.

Wallace is expected to be a Democratic candidate for the presidential nomination in 1976.

Court Denies Appeal

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The Michigan Court of Appeals has upheld the conviction of a former Benton Harbor man who was convicted in 1973 of assault with intent to commit murder and armed robbery.

Affirmed was the conviction of Ollis Talley, 26. Talley, on Jan. 22, 1974, received concurrent prison terms of 25 to 40 years on each conviction from Berrien Circuit Judge William S. White.

Talley was convicted by a jury of robbing Max Wagner, a driver for Twin City Cab Lines, of $100 and shooting him five times in the arm June 28, 1973, in Benton Harbor.

The appellate court denied both issues Talley raised on appeal by ruling White did not err in instructing the jury on a number of lesser included offenses in addition to the two original charges for which he was convicted.

The court also held there was no error in photographic and personal identifications of Talley by Wagner.

BICENTENNIAL FACTS

JOHANN Kalb, son of Bavarian parents, was to be known in America as "Baron de Kalb." The soldier-of-fortune contracted to join the American Army in early November and sailed on April 26, 1777 from France with Lafayette. Congress voted Kalb a commission as major-general on Sept. 15. He joined Washington in early November and spent the winter at Valley Forge. In April, 1780, Kalb was ordered to Charleston. He relinquished command to American Gen. Gates July 25 but remained with the army, ignoring Kalb's professional sound advice. Gates made decisions which led to the annihilation of the army in the Camden Campaign, where Kalb was mortally wounded in the battle and died Aug. 19. The World Almanac recalls.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1900, the U.S. government bought its first airplane. It was a Wright biplane costing $21,000 dollars.

On this date: In 1718, the founder of Pennsylvania, William Penn, died in England.

In 1918, the American poet who wrote "Trees," Sergeant Joyce Kilmer, was killed in action in France.

In 1953, race riots broke out in Chicago's Tremont Park housing project after a black family moved into the previously all-white community.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson flew to Independence, Mo., and signed the Medicare Bill in the presence of former President Harry Truman at the Truman Library.

Five years ago: President Richard Nixon, in a news conference statement, assured Israel that U.S. proposals for a Middle East peace posed no danger to that country.

One year ago: President Nixon surrendered eleven Watergate tapes to Federal Judge John Sirica on orders of the Supreme Court.

Today's birthdays: British sculptor Henry Moore is 77. Pianist Gerald Moore is 78.

Thought for today: The borrower is servant to the lender — the Bible.

27 Give Views On Welfare Proposal

By MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

Twenty-seven people testified yesterday at Lake Michigan College at a public hearing on the new proposed $143,553,181 Michigan Annual Social Services plan.

The proposed plan details spending of state and federal funds for the services budget of the Michigan Department of Social Services.

The $143,553,181 proposed services budget is part of the state social services department's total $1.8 billion budget. It covers such services as day care, family planning, information and referral, and protective services.

The new plan is necessary because federal funding has been transferred from Title 4 and 6 to Title 20 funds which means hearings are now required throughout the state. The new plan represents an increase of $19,553,181 over last year's state social services budget.

James Russell, regional program manager of the social services department, said there is very little difference between the new plan and the plan now being followed by the social services department.

Russell said the significance of the change in funding is that Title 20 funds give the state and counties greater flexibility in determining what services will be provided to its residents. He said, however, that that change will not be seen until next year's budget after the new plan has been operating for a year. The proposed plan goes into effect Oct. 1.

The public hearing yesterday, hosted by the Southwest Michigan Regional Planning Commission, is one of several hearings being held throughout the state to solicit public opinion on what services the state social services department should offer and how much each particular program should be funded.

A majority of the 27 people testifying yesterday were workers for programs currently being funded by the social services department who were urging more or continued funding of their programs.

One speaker began, "I realize we are all here to push for our favorite program, but I really feel that my program offers a worthwhile service."

Russell said $77.7 million in the plan is earmarked for funding of programs to perform services for the social services department. He predicted a "good deal of program rivalry" for the funds.

Among program workers testifying before yesterday's hearing were representatives from Berrien County Action, Inc., Community Parents Child Day Care center, Tri-County Council on Aging, Tri-County Migrant Services, Link Crisis Intervention center, Tri-County Planned Parenthood association, and Berrien County Legal Aid.

Russell said public comment on the new proposed plan can still be made by writing to Robert L. Little, director of the Bureau of Social Services for the state social services department, 300 South Capitol Avenue, Lansing. He said the department will be taking public input until Aug. 27 when the social services department will make revisions and decide on the new plan.

Gobles School Board Adopts New Policies

GOBLES — Gobles school board last night adopted a revised student attendance policy and a policy for students driving cars to the high school.

The attendance policy will allow students with unexcused absence or tardiness to make up a portion of missed work, while the previous policy allowed no such makeups.

The revised policy also spells out stricter requirements for school officials to notify parents of absences and tardiness.

The student driving policy requires students to register motor vehicles with the principal, bars students from taking cars from school during the day and bars students from driving or sitting in cars during lunch.

Parents are also to be notified of a student's violation of the new driving policy.

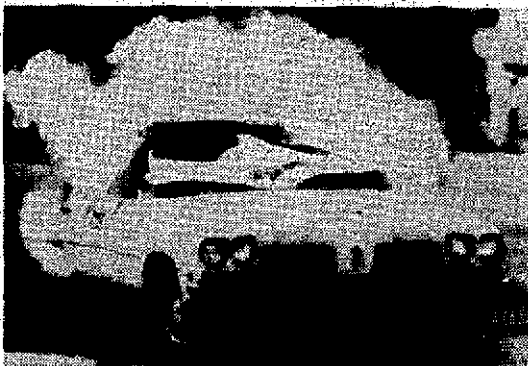

In other areas, the board tabled action on a proposal to establish a pre-school program for four-year-olds. The proposed program would have pre-schoolers and their parents meet at the elementary school for one hour a week. The program would be voluntary and cost about $150 for the year, according to Randall Bos, elementary principal.

It was reported that physical examinations for Gobles athletes will be held Aug. 11 in the high school gymnasium. Physicals for girls will be held at 6 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. for boys.

The board approved a five-hour workshop for all elementary teachers in the elementary school on Aug. 27.

juror one firefighter slightly. Dozens of young blacks from the Neighborhood Youth Corps and neighborhood city halls urged the crowd to disperse.

Residents of the area complained that Chinarian should have been charged with first-degree murder and should not have been released on $500 bond. Some said he should be turned over to the bar owner's car.

Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Donald Leonard ordered Chinarian to appear in court today for re-evaluation of the bond.

Chinarian was not charged at first when he claimed he shot Wynn while the youth was tampering with the bar owner's car. Police Chief Philip Tannian said officers did not learn until hours after the shooting that Wynn's wound was to the back of the head.

He said authorities believed they could demonstrate that the shooting was with malice, the requirement for a second-degree conviction, but not with premeditation.

Asked about Chinarian at an afternoon news conference, Tannian said it was "safe to categorize him as not one of the most beloved people in the neighborhood."

He declined to elaborate, but neighborhood residents complained that Chinarian made them very unwelcome at his establishment.

"You had to ring a buzzer to get in and if you were black you didn't get in," complained one resident. "And if you did you didn't get served."

"The people in this area know what kind of man he was," said another. Dr. Werner Spitz, Wayne County medical examiner, said Wynn was shot in the back of the head with a .25-caliber automatic slug.

"I just think it's a dirty deal that my son got shot in the back of the head," said the youth's mother, Shirley Wynn.

Unemployment in Detroit is 23 per cent and many of those who gathered in the area Tuesday night said they were out of work. Some said joblessness was a prime cause of the disturbance.

"If this didn't kick it off, something else would," said one. "It's gonna be hell-broke out. It's not this time than next week or next month. It'll probably be worse than in 1967."

Berrien Official Fights Fire

Benton township firemen reported Charles J. Kehoe, director of juvenile court services for Berrien county, extinguished a fire in the car of another motorist Tuesday afternoon.

Firemen said Kehoe, 234 Uigman Park road, Benton township, used a portable fire extinguisher to put out a fire in the engine area of a car driven by Cindy Unrath, of Hartford, on Napier avenue at Norton road. Firemen said wiring and other engine parts were severely damaged on the 1965 Plymouth in the 3:10 p.m. fire.

Firemen extinguished another fire that caused about $650 in damage to a car driven by George Waggle, 2012 Taylor street, Benton Heights Tuesday night.

Fire apparently started in the back seat, firemen said, while Waggle was driving his 1967 Oldsmobile in the 4000 block of Red Arrow highway, and the cause was undetermined. The fire was confined to the interior, firemen reported.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Light In Window Leads To Arrest

St. Joseph police credited the sharp observance of two civilians with providing information that led to the arrest early today of a man on a charge of breaking and entering a downtown office building.

Police said Gary Barker, 3797 Southfield drive, Lincoln township, and William S. Schilke, South Park road, Eau Claire, were walking on Broad street and noticed what appeared to be a flashlight through a window of an office building at 400 Main street about 12:30 a.m.

According to police, Schilke remained at the building while Barker went to the police station, located directly across

Main street, to report what they saw.

After obtaining a key to the building, officers went inside and in searching allegedly located a man identified as Donald R. Jackson, 28, who gave his address as Augusta, Maine, in a closet in the basement area.

Police said a charge of carrying a concealed weapon also was placed against Jackson when a .38 caliber pistol was found, along with $395.95 in cash and a diamond ring.

Police indicated all five of the offices in the building had been entered and were to determine today if anything was missing. Offices in the building are occupied by the Berrien county chapter of the American Red Cross, Atty. Thomas McCoy, accountant Clinton Maki, Midwest Turnkey Builders, Inc. and Appliance Buyers Credit corporation.

A Covert man was arrested early this morning by Benton township police on charges of leaving the scene of an accident and attempting to escape custody. Police said a passenger in his car was charged with carrying a concealed weapon and drunk and disorderly.

Booked at the Berrien county jail were Gerald F. Prince, 21, route 1, M-140, Covert, and Morris W. Davenport, 20, of 308 North Detroit, Buchanan.

Police reported they stopped Prince's car at Main street and Fair avenue after receiving a report that a car matching that of Prince's ran into a steel post in front of the Saddle Grill, Red Arrow highway and Thomas street, Benton Heights.

While being escorted to a squad car, police said Prince broke free, but was captured again about 100 yards away. Police said a knife with a four-inch blade was confiscated.

Benton Harbor police answered a silent alarm Tuesday night at Seely McCord school, 465 South McCord street, apprehended two juveniles and charged them with breaking and entering.

Police said a 15-year-old girl and 10-year-old boy, both of Benton Harbor, were turned over to their parents pending petitioning to juvenile court. The two were among four youngsters allegedly seen running from the building, police said.

Police recovered two plastic baseball bats, three books and two rolls of wrapping paper. They said entry was made through an unlocked window and that desk drawers and shelves had been rifled.

Two thefts were reported to Benton Harbor police Tuesday. Bernice Woods, 500 Division street, said a silver wristwatch, valued at $65, was stolen from her home. Anthony Robinson, 859 Mineral avenue, reported the theft of a .22 caliber revolver from his home.

Deputies said the body had been in the water for several days.

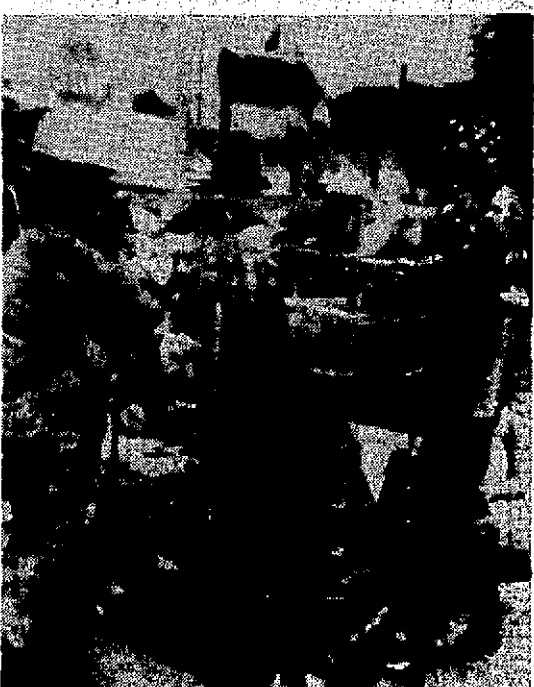

Cause of death was due to drowning, according to Dr. Alphonso Gonzales, a Farmville pathologist.

The drowning was the second so far this year in the county.

Deputies said details of how and when the man got into the water were not known.

Consumers Asks Wholesale Rate Hike

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Consumers Power Co. today sought federal permission to increase by 33 per cent the wholesale rates it charges to 16 small electric utilities and cooperatives.

In a petition to the Federal Power Commission in Washington, D.C., Consumers said the proposed increase would amount to just over $5 million a year.

State Public Service Commission regulations generally allow the smaller utilities to immediately pass on such increases to their residential and industrial users.

Smaller electric utilities owned by municipalities and private investors as well as rural electric cooperatives would be affected.

They include Bay City, Charlevoix, Eaton Rapids, Harbor Springs, Hillsdale, Marshall, Petoskey, Chelsea, Portland, Union City, St. Louis, Coldwater, Southeastern Michigan Rural Electric Cooperative, Alpena Power Co., Edison Sault Electric Co. and Wolverine Electric Cooperative.

A company spokesman said the proposed increase would give Consumers a 10 per cent profit on investment, compared to a projected 2.6 per cent for 1973.

The spokesman said the last increase authorized by the FPC for Consumers was about $1 million in August 1971. He said the amount was about one-third of the increase Consumers requested in early 1972.

Two Officials Are Recalled!

By TOM BRUNDRETT
State Editor
With TOM BENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — Voters in South Haven township recalled their supervisor and a trustee in a special election yesterday, touching off a drive to recall the three remaining township board members and another official.

According to unofficial tabulations, Supervisor Clifford Klapp was recalled 468 to 316, while Trustee Donald Getman was ousted by a 404 to 318 count. Klapp is a former southwestern Michigan scout official.

Klapp and Getman were recalled by opponents of zoning because the two had supported adoption of a proposed township interim zoning code.

The drive against the remaining three officials was launched in "retaliation" by reported backers of zoning. The three had blocked adoption of the code Klapp and Getman had supported. They were Clerk Franklin Torp, Treasurer Ruth Torp and Trustee Edward Post.

A move to force a recall election for James Wellington, a Van Buren county commissioner whose district includes the township, was also reported underway in the wake of yesterday's recall. Wellington was described as a prime advocate in the recall drive.

Klapp was serving his first year as supervisor, having been elected unopposed in November, 1974. Getman was serving his 13th year on the board.

Only 38 per cent of the township's 1,901 registered voters cast ballots. The men will be officially out of office this afternoon after the Van Buren board of canvassers certifies the election, according to Torp.

Torp predicted a special election to fill the vacancies will be held Sept. 2, the same date when South Haven township voters are scheduled to go to the polls to vote on establishing a fire protection district.

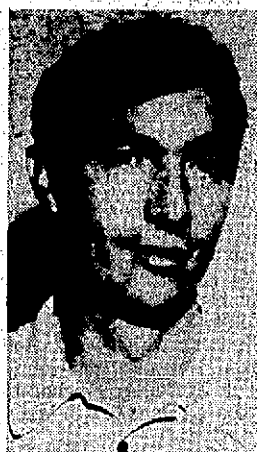

The clerk said that after the election date is set, candidates will have 15 days to file petitions for the offices. Both terms will run until the end of 1976.

The drive against the other officials was launched by a group of citizens, calling themselves the Citizens Committee for Responsible Government.

The petitions against Torp, Ruth Torp and Post charge that the officials "failed and refused to properly serve the people of the township by refusing to act on zoning and use ordinances, contrary to the best interest of the citizens of South Haven township."

The language of the petition is just the opposite of the petitions against Klapp and Getman. The new petitions would need 249 signatures of registered voters to qualify for a recall election.

Both Klapp and Getman termed the low turnout of voters as key to their recall. The votes supporting recall were nearly identical to the 420 signatures of the original petitions.

Neither official said they were surprised by the outcome. Klapp said he was "relieved", adding "somebody else can worry about the township now and I hope it is somebody who has guts enough to stand for what is right."

Willie Bradford, a citizen instrumental in the recall drive, expressed satisfaction at the results, but disappointment at the voter turnout.

"What has happened will lead to better local government in the future," Bradford added.

Former township supervisor James Schnake, who also supported the recall drive, labeled the outcome "a mandate from the people to our officials to abide by our wishes."

The recall of Getman also leaves the township without a building inspector, a position he assumed in March.

Torp said the township board would continue to function with its three members, noting that all three would have to be present at meetings to conduct business.

Zoning has been a controversial issue in South Haven township for several years. Proposed zoning ordinances have been rejected by voters on four occasions, the last in 1972 by a better than two-to-one margin. Klapp and Getman were the minority in a 3-2 vote of the township board in February which rejected a proposal to adopt the interim zoning ordinance which under state law would not have been subject to a vote of the people for two years.

BOB ACKERMAN

Ackerman Out To End Western Amateur 'Slump'

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

Can Bob Ackerman break his annual Western Amateur "slump"?

That question will be answered starting today when the Bridgman golfer tees off with the field of 185 in first-round play in the 1975 Western Amateur golf tournament at the Point O'Woods country club.

Ackerman, riding a surge of recent college success, has found the Amateur as troublesome as a tee shot at the Point's treacherous No. 9 hole.

The 22-year-old Indiana University graduate failed to qualify for the Amateur in pre-qualifying play in both 1971 and 1973. In 1972 Ackerman missed the 36-hole cut with 78-84-182 and last summer he again failed to survive after 36 holes with 81-76-157.

"It seems every year about this time I get in a slump...I call it my Western Amateur slump," relates Ackerman. "I guess having the tournament so close to home has something to do with it. Everyone's calling and wanting to know how you're doing...it's kinda hectic."

"And it seems I always get off to a real bad start. Last year I had a double-bogey on the second hole the first day and a bogey on the third hole. That really puts you behind the eight-ball and makes it tough."

Ackerman, who was scheduled to tee off at 8:45 this morning at the 10th tee, has picked up new confidence and thinks he's now ready to make his big Amateur move.

"My goal is to make the 36-hole cut and stick around for awhile," states Ackerman. "I can do it. I finished 14th in the NCAA meet last month and they had just as tough a field as they do here. I have to get off to a good start, make a lot of pars and don't lose my cool."

Ackerman tied for 14th with a 295 total in the NCAA golf meet at Ohio State University. Jay Haas, an Amateur favorite, won medalist honors with 282.

"I hit the ball as well as Haas, Pate (Jerry) and Hancock (Phil) and the others," notes Ackerman of the NCAA competition. "During the first two rounds I did better than the all-Americans from last year. I know I can play with them!"

In addition to his solid NCAA showing, Ackerman shared the Big Ten medalist title this spring with Indiana teammate (and roommate) Gary Biedinger. During Ackerman's three years on the varsity the Hoosiers won three consecutive Big Ten crowns.

"I really was not that serious about golf until college," reveals Ackerman, who attended Indiana on a full-ride golf scholarship. "I practiced about every day and played a lot. My coach (Bob Fitch) was very good...he knows a lot about the game. I really got a different perspective."

Ackerman, who made the Golf Coaches of America all-American second team this year, made his golf debut at age "eight or nine" thanks to his father, Bob, also an outstanding golfer. He spent many of his youthful days touring the links of the Bridgman country club.

"My dad taught me most everything I know. He still helps me out and gives me advice all the time."

Ackerman was a basketball and golf whiz at Bridgman high school. He was a Red Arrow all-league cage pick for two years and was the Class C-D golf medalist in his senior year.

The handsome bachelor plans to turn professional this fall and probably start playing on the pro mini-tour after Christmas. If he does well on the mini-tour, he would likely consider going for his regular tour playing card at qualifying school in the spring or fall.

"I really want to turn pro...that's my goal. I think I have the talent and potential. I just have to keep improving."

"Overall I need the most work on my long irons. I can drive the ball pretty well and my short game is good."

However, Ackerman admits

he doesn't want to struggle as long as his brother-in-law Gary Groh did before reaching the big money. Groh, also from Bridgman, hit the tour jackpot this season at age 30.

"I don't think I could keep on going as long as Gary did...it's a real grind. I have a something to fall back on but Gary didn't get a degree — golf is his whole life. If I don't make it big in four or five years I think I would consider something else."

Ackerman, who snuck in a practice round at the Point Tuesday afternoon, gives the famed Point O'Woods layout high marks.

"I've played it about five times this year...it's a super course. I've played quite a few courses across the country and few can compare with the Point. The roughs are really long. They're not going to shoot the same scores as last year...no 65's this time."

And Bob is hoping he doesn't shoot the same score as last summer!

Salary Set At $450,000 A Year

Jets, Namath Agree

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Namath and the New York Jets have reached agreement on a new contract that could have the veteran quarterback in uniform by the end of the week.

The Jets planned a 12:30 p.m. EDT news conference at the team's National Football League training camp in nearby Hempstead, N.Y., where they will announce the new pact hammered out Monday night by Jets President Phil Ilesin and Namath's attorney, Jimmy Walsh.

Though neither side would confirm it, a source close to the bargaining between the Jets and football's most famous quarterback said they had agreed on a salary of $450,000 for each of two years.

The agreement apparently does not deal with any fringe benefits, only with time and money. The contract also represents a compromise, something which neither the Jets nor Namath appeared willing to do earlier.

Namath, 32, who turned down a $4-million offer to play in the World Football League earlier this year, wanted a $1-million package spread over two years.

Ilesin wanted Namath to sign a three-year deal for $400,000 a year, which would have been a $100,000 a year raise.

"We have made our top offer," Ilesin said last weekend. "There is only so much juice you can get out of an orange, and there is no juice left."

Walsh replied: "Joe will not play unless he gets the figure he wants."

The length of the contract had been a key in bargaining. Namath, who earlier this month signed a multi-million dollar contract with a perfume and cosmetics manufacturing firm, did not want to commit himself past two years.

"If after that period," Namath said, "I still am of a mind, then I can always renew it."

The Jets' first preseason game is a week from Saturday in Phoenix against the Minnesota Vikings, and Namath has said he would like to play at least half the game. That, however, would seem unlikely, even if Namath begins work immediately.

Namath, who led the Jets to six consecutive victories at the end of last season, played his college ball at Alabama, where Bear Bryant called him "the greatest athlete I have ever coached." Namath, a 10-year veteran, has spent all his pro career with the Jets after signing a $400,000 contract on the eve of the 1965 Orange Bowl game at Miami.

Phillies Continue Hold Over Pirates

Cubs Beat Montreal In Eighth

From Associated Press

The Pittsburgh Pirates aren't as tough as they look...at least the way the Philadelphia Phillies see them.

The Phillies have an uncanny hold on Pittsburgh and because of it, the Pirates are losing their grip in the National League East.

Behind rookie Tom Underwood, the Phillies defeated Pittsburgh 5-1 Tuesday night for their ninth straight victory over the Pirates and climbed within 3 1/2 games of the front-runners.

"Tonight's game is an important one," said Dave Cash. "It will mean the difference between leaving Pittsburgh 2 1/2 or 4 1/2 games behind."

The Pirates haven't beaten the Phillies since April 18, when they finished a three-game sweep of their Pennsylvania neighbors. Since then, it's been downright bizarre the way the Phillies have handled the Pirates.

In the other National League games, the San Francisco Giants turned back the Cincinnati Reds 4-2; the Atlanta Braves whipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-2; the Houston Astros stopped the San Diego Padres 6-2; the Chicago Cubs nipped the Montreal Expos 4-3 and the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the New York Mets 5-3 in the first game of a twilight doubleheader before losing the second game, 11-4.

Underwood pitched a four-hitter and doubled in a pair of runs to help Philadelphia beat Pittsburgh. Underwood, a 21-year-old southpaw, stroked his double to left center to key a four-run fourth-inning spurt off losing pitcher Dock Ellis, 7-7.

Bobby Murcer's two-run double in the ninth inning carried San Francisco past Cincinnati as the Reds failed for the 49th straight time to get a complete game from their pitching staff.

Blue Moon Odum earned his first National league victory and Darrell Evans belted his 13th home run as Atlanta beat Los Angeles.

Jose Cruz' run-scoring double highlighted a three-run Houston uprising in the fifth inning and the Astros defeated San Diego, ending a five-game losing streak. John Summers' bases-loaded eighth-inning pinch single scored Jose Cardenal with the tie-breaking run Tuesday and another run scored on a forceout, lifting the Chicago Cubs to a 4-3 victory over the Montreal Expos.

The Cubs loaded the bases with none out in the eighth against Expos reliever Dale Murray, 4-4, on two walks and a hit batsman. Then Summers pinch hit for Manny Trillo and sent his single to left, sending in Chicago's third run.

The winning run crossed on a forceout, providing Darold Knowles, 4-5, with the margin of victory.

Montreal managed a run in the ninth on singles by Pete Mackanin and Jose Morales and a sacrifice fly by Pepe Mangual.

Tim Lincecum's seventh-inning home run, his fifth of the season, had tied the score 2-2. The Expos had taken a 2-1 lead in the top of the inning on a single by Larry Bittner, a sacrifice and an RBI double by Barry Foote.

Chicago opened the scoring in the first inning on Rick Monday's 12th homer, but Montreal tied it in the second. Mike Jorgensen was hit by a pitch and went to third on a single by Bittner.

Then Larry Parrish's looping fly to short center scored Jorgensen, although Bittner was forced at second—taking a hit away from Parrish.

Ron Fairly drove in three runs with two singles and his fifth homer of the season to lead St. Louis to its first-game vic-

Jerry Pate (top photo), also a member of the All-American golf team, has turned pro and will make his first appearance as a pro on the US tour in this weekend's Westchester Golf Classic. Strange and Haas both flew to New York after Monday's practice session at the Point O'Woods golf course in Benton Harbor in preparation for the Western Amateur which starts today. The two, along with fellow All-Americans Andy Bean, Keith Fergus Kenny Roberts and Phil Hancock were slated to catch a plane back to Benton Harbor this morning in time to tee off this afternoon. Owners Deny Sox, A's Shift

CHICAGO (AP) — The owners of the Oakland A's and Chicago White Sox have both disputed reports that the A's plan to move to Chicago and that the White Sox would be sold and moved to Seattle.

"It's unfounded and without substance," A's owner Charles Finley said Tuesday, about a report that discussions are under way to move the two franchises.

White Sox owner John Allyn, who has said repeatedly that he would sell his team for $20 million, also disputed the account, saying, "I don't think there's a chance that the White Sox will leave Chicago. He (Finley) has commitments in Oakland that I don't think he can get out of."

Published and broadcast reports in Chicago said the proposal being kicked around would help Allyn out of his present financial difficulty, end the competition for attendance in the San Francisco Bay area between the Giants and the A's and appease Seattle, which lost its franchise to Milwaukee.

"I have no intention of moving the club to Seattle," Allyn said. "I also don't know anyone in Seattle who's interested in putting up the money for a baseball team."

"Your Safety Is Our First Concern"

Brewers' Thomas 'Blows' Big Chance Homers Power White Sox Win

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Milwaukee's Gorman Thomas was a desperate man. He had eight straight strikeouts to his credit, lying on an American League record. He needed one more to tie the major league mark.

The fans in the centerfield bleachers at Boston's Fenway Park rose to his support with a standing ovation as he came to bat in the sixth inning.

"I think they were just trying to get a share of my success," confided Thomas.

Manager Del Crandall offered encouragement.

"Before Gorman went to bat in the sixth inning I told him if he strikes out again I'll buy him a dinner," said Crandall with a grin. "I did it because he was getting tighter and tighter and I just wanted to loosen him up."

Not to worry. Thomas came through in the clutch. He bounced into a double play. His chance for glory passed.

"I think I deserve at least an asterisk," he said.

Despite Thomas' efforts the Brewers won the game 4-0 behind Jim Colborn's seven-hit

ter. In Tuesday night's other American League games, Texas topped Oakland 6-1, Baltimore clubbed Cleveland 7-1, New York beat Detroit 4-2, Kansas City dumped Minnesota 5-2 and Chicago downed California 7-4.

Don Money and Darrell Porter led off the game with home runs and Money added another one in the third inning as the Brewers handed Boston only its fourth loss in the last 22 games. Colborn, 7-8, bested Diego Segui, 2-4, who struck out 11 batters in his first start since May 16, 1972.

Toby Harrah collected four hits, including the first grand slam home run of his career, and knocked in five runs for Texas. Steve Hargan, 7-6, bested Jim Perry, 4-10. Joe Rudi homered for the A's who still lead the AL West by 9½ games.

Mike Torrez tossed a six-hitter and Bobby Grich and Lee May knocked in three runs apiece for Baltimore.

New York broke its scoreless inning string at 27 with an unearned run in the first and added three more in the fifth. Thurman Munson drove in two runs with a single and infield grounder.

George Brett drove in three runs with a home run and a sacrifice fly and Paul Spittler, making his first start in over a month, won his third game in 12 decisions.

Deron Johnson hammered a three-run homer and Ken Henderson added a two-run shot Tuesday night to power the Chicago White Sox past the California Angels 7-4.

Claude Osteen, 6-8, got the victory, pitching out of numerous jams before leaving in the seventh inning when Dave Hamilton bailed him out of trouble.

Johnson drilled his three-run shot off loser Andy Hassler, 3-10, in the fourth and Henderson followed with his two-run poke to chase Hassler in the fifth. Carlos May hit a solo homer in the ninth.

The loss was the ninth straight for Hassler, who is without a victory since April 29.

California finally broke through against Osteen in the seventh on Chalk's two-run single after base hits by Rivers and Dave Collins.

After reliever Dan Osborn hit a batter and walked another to load the bases, Hamilton came on and got pinch hitter Joe Lahoud to pop up, ending the inning.

Rich Batatz belted a two-run double in the ninth for the Angels.

Wood Named Bell Coach

First Black To Head Modern Pro Team

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — There's a lot of preku on Willie Wood.

There would be pressure on anybody chosen head coach of a pro football team three days before the regular season opener.

But Willie Wood has the added pressure of being the first black coach in modern pro football.

"My original idea was to play that (race) down," Wood said Tuesday when he was named field boss of the World Football League Philadelphia Bells.

"But obviously the mere fact that I'm black means I feel I have to do a good job."

"If I can put forth all the energy I feel I have in store, if we can develop a winning team here...maybe somewhere down the road they'll think of the Philadelphia Bell as a winning team and not me as a black coach."

The former All-Pro safety with the National Football League Green Bay Packers is pro football's first black field boss since Fritz Pollard led several teams in the 1920s when the NFL was in its infancy.

Wood joined the Bell this year as defensive coordinator. He succeeds Ron Waller, who quit as head coach last week.

Wood, a native of Washington, D.C., was a quarterback during his college days at the University of Southern California. He was ignored in the 1960 pro draft, but he wrote a letter to the late Vince Lombardi, then coach and general manager of the Green Bay Packers.

Lombardi signed Wood as a free agent and converted him to defensive back. The gamble paid off: the hard-hitting Wood made All-Pro four times, leading the league in pass interceptions in 1962. He had 48 interceptions during his 12 years with the Packers, two steals for touchdowns.

Doc Medich Tames Tigers Coleman's Streak Snapped In 4-2 Loss

NEW YORK (AP) — Doc Medich knows the routine. It goes: "If it weren't for bad luck, I wouldn't have any luck at all."

Even when things go well for the good Doctor, it seems they're only so-so. Medich, 8-12, picked up his first victory since July 7 with a 4-2 decision over the Detroit Tigers Tuesday, which ended Detroit's Joe Coleman's month-long winning streak.

But a fluke kept Medich from picking up his ninth complete game of the season. With two out, Aurelio Rodriguez' grounder took a bad bounce over shortstop Fred Stanley's head for a single. Gary Sutherland then singled and Medich exited in favor of Tippy Martinez, who got his third save.

The victory ended a 28-inning scoreless string for the Yanks during which time they were shut out three times.

New York scored in the first on Bobby Bonds' walk, an error and Thurman Munson's single. They scored three in the fifth on Munson's RBI single, Graig Nettles double and a single by Lou Piniella.

Detroit got both its runs in the sixth on Ben Oglivie's double and Willie Horton's 18th homer of the season.

Martinez struck out Leon Roberts on a 3-2 curveball to end the game.

The Tigers' new pitcher, Gene Pentz, made his major league debut in the game. He replaced Coleman with three innings to go, and the Tigers' rookie right-hander didn't permit a hit over the final three, facing ten Yankee batters and striking out four of them.

The 22-year-old Pentz, who was converted from a starter to a reliever in the minor leagues this season, walked two and got lucky on a line drive double play in the eighth.

Billy Baldwin, who came up from Evansville Tuesday to replace Mickey Stanley, made his big league debut in right field as Ralph Houk loaded his lineup with left-handers against Medich.

In his fourth at bat, Baldwin singled for his first major league hit.

The Tigers lost veteran outfielder Mickey Stanley for the season Tuesday when he underwent surgery to repair a ligament in his right thumb.

The Tigers placed Stanley on the 60-day disabled list and said he is not expected to return to action this season.

Stanley, joins pitcher John Hiller, outfielder Dan Meyer and catcher Terry Humphrey on the disabled list.

In addition, shortstop Tom Verzyer is nursing a sprained left foot and isn't expected in the lineup for another week.

Stanley hurt his thumb sliding into second base last Friday night in a game against Cleveland.

"It's the damndest thing I've ever heard of," said manager Ralph Houk when reviewing the extent of Tiger injuries. "I've never seen anything like this."

The worst part of it is, they were all playing so well. Meyer looked like he was really coming around at the plate when he got hurt. Hiller had been just outstanding lately, and Stanley had played so many places so well," Houk said.

It was one year ago that Stanley was hit on the right hand by a pitch in Boston, breaking a bone and being sidelined for the rest of the season.

That was the break for Ron LeFlore, who has been in centerfield ever since.

Stanley will become a 10-year major league veteran on Thursday, which means the Tigers cannot trade him without his permission.

Mack Tournament Starts Thursday

Lakeshore, Paw Paw Meeting

"Play It Again, Sam" could well be the theme for this year's Connie Mack district tourney starting in Portage Thursday.

The two teams that squared off for the championship last year, Paw Paw and Portage Larkin-Dale, return with bigger and better teams but a new kid on the block, Lakeshore Legion, could also figure in the outcome.

St. Joseph Legion will be the lone area team in the district held in Wyoming, starting Thursday. St. Joe will be backing a tradition of winning teams as the state Mack champ has come from this district four of the last five years.

Paw Paw was trounced by Larkin-Dale 9-0 last year and is out to gain a little revenge this year. It will go up against Lakeshore Legion Thursday at noon on McCamey Field across from Portage Central high school.

Joe Vesey is leading Paw Paw in the hitting department with a hefty .475 average. Right fielder Zane Silas is hitting at .375 and Mike Price and Leroy Rushing are batting around the .300 mark. Rod Austin leads the pitchers with a 4-1 record followed by Carl Kroshinski at 3-0 and Fred Gladysz at 2-2.

Under Mack rules, each team can pick three players from the rest of its league for tourney play. Paw Paw has picked up Dave Baker and Tim Case from North Lincoln and John Dentzman from Bangor.

Lakeshore is led by a fine crop of good hitting pitchers. Steve Rennhack is 6-4 pitching and .346 in the hitting department. Tim Farrow is 5-1 and hitting .307 and Jim Welch is 3-1 and batting .341. Keith Wiles has the best win-loss record at 6-1. Manager Chuck Trapp picked up Eddie Owsianka from St. Joseph Mack and Jeff Jackson from Three Oaks.

The winner of that game will play the Southwest Mack West division winner on Friday at 2:30 p.m. Benton Heights has the inside track but a crucial game with second place Coloma played last Monday night is being protested by Coloma manager Ron Marks over the use of Rick Thomas by Benton Heights. Marks claims Thomas doesn't live or go to school in the district he plays in. A ruling on the protest will be made tomorrow.

Portage Larkin-Dale will take on Portage Dick Loehr's also on Thursday. Larkin-Dale, with a 12-1 record, beat Loehr's by a 2-1 score two weeks ago.

The Kalamazoo Reds (8-7) will play Hastings Legion (8-2) in the third game.

Mike Wyngarden's St. Joe Legion team has been getting strong pitching performances from Don Mann (7-6, 2.89 ERA), Kit Karsten (6-4, 3.00 ERA) and Roger Schwoebel (5-4, 3.33 ERA). Top hitters on the team are catcher Rick Dyer at .401, outfielder Roger Vogie is hitting .322 and Mike Collier is .301.

Its opponents will come from one of two Muskegon teams that are tied for second place in their league. Game time is set for 6 p.m. Thursday at Lamar Park in Wyoming.

Last year was the first time in five years the state champ didn't come from Wyoming. Flint took the state and eventually the national Connie Mack title last year.

The state tourney will begin on August 7 with eight district winners and the host team meeting for the state crown in Marshall.

Golfers Take Aim At Money Lead

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Defending champion Johnny Miller, Tom Weiskopf and Hale Irwin all have a shot at Jack Nicklaus' money-winning lead this week in the $250,000 Westchester Golf Classic.

Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and

Lee Trevino are skipping this event, the second richest on the tour this season. All are concentrating on preparations for next week's PGA National Championship, the fourth and last of the season's major tournaments.

The absence could cost Nicklaus his lead in the money-winning standings, a category that most touring pros feel determines the season's real champion.

With $50,000 going to the winner here and $28,500 to second, Weiskopf could move into the top spot with a victory while Miller and Irwin need to finish either second or first to take the lead in the money race. Johnny won last year with a record $353,021.

Nicklaus, a playoff loser to Weiskopf in the Canadian Open last week, now has $203,599 in official winnings for the year. Miller, like Nicklaus a three-time winner this season, is second at $183,270. Irwin has $180,227 and Weiskopf $169,565. Weiskopf and Irwin each have picked up two 1975 titles. Neither has ever won the money-winning crown.

But the challenging trio, all high among the favorites, has plenty of competition in the 153-man field that begins a 72-hole test Thursday over the hilly little 6,614 yard, par-72 Westchester Country Club course in suburban New York.

The lineup includes 54 of the year's top 60 money winners.

Among the leading contenders are the always-dangerous South African Gary Player; British Open champ Tom Watson and veteran Gene Littler, each a two-time winner this year; U.S. Open titleholder Lou Graham, and John Mahaffey, a four-time runner-up this year.

Portions of the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday are scheduled for national television coverage by Hughes Television Network.

Lions owner William Clay Ford, general manager Russ Thomas and coach Rick Forzano all talked by phone with Bryant Tuesday.

AL May Punish Tigers' Houk

NEW YORK (AP) — American League President Lee MacPhail indicated Tuesday the league may punish Detroit Tiger Manager Ralph Houk for jostling Baltimore sports writer Phil Hersh.

But first, MacPhail told the Detroit Free Press, he will make sure that assault charges filed by Hersh against Houk are dropped and that civil authorities plan no further action.

MacPhail reportedly was a key figure in gaining an agreement from Hersh to drop charges against Houk after Houk apologized in writing.

There was no indication what punishment could be considered.

Lions Still Waiting On Bryant Ruling

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions are still waiting for a Los Angeles court ruling on returning back Cullen Bryant.

National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle awarded Bryant to the Lions as

Lions Drill Once A Day

ROCHESTER, Mich. (AP) — Coach Rick Forzano of the Detroit Lions is trying something that has seldom, if ever, been done before in pro football. That something is one-a-day practices, a contrast to normal two-a-day workouts common in most other camps. Forzano has the Lions in for meetings and classes in the mornings, feeds them lunch and then runs them through their paces on the field. Several of the Lions — Greg Landry and Charlie Sanders among them — say they like the new system.

"I think this works better than two-a-day," said Landry. "You don't have to spend so much time changing clothes."

"You don't have to get up in the morning feeling stiffer than a board and think about practicing in the morning," said Sanders.

"It might not be the thing," Forzano admitted. "I don't know anybody else that does it, but why wait four years, then somebody starts and you say, 'oh, I was going to do that.'"

Forzano said the morning classes are held so the Lions are not mentally and physically tired when they do the important think-work. And, the afternoon practice sessions correspond with the time of day during which the Lions will play most of their games, something Forzano says studies have shown could be important.

The two-a-day practices have been criticized for their grueling ruggedness.

LACK OF MONEY BIG OBJECTION

Area Lawmakers Cool On New Capitol

By JACQUELINE TEARE
Lansing Correspondent

LANSING — Almost to a man, six southwestern Michigan lawmakers say this isn't the time to talk about spending what could amount to some $100 million on a new capitol.

"Today we don't have a dime

JACQUELINE TEARE
Lansing Correspondent

of budget money that could be earmarked for it," says Rep. Harry Gast, R-St. Joseph. "At this point, we shouldn't build a new capitol."

Instead, Gast favors "consolidating some of the rental space now used." Michigan now rents nearly one million square feet of space at various locations in the Lansing area for legislative and state department offices.

Gast says that, when economic conditions allow, the state should consider a new office building, to do away with the "struggle, shoving and bumbling (by lawmakers) to get better office space."

Rep. Bela Kennedy, R-Bangor, goes along with the office building idea, saying that the "several millions of dollars spent on this building have to some extent been wasted, because all that remodeling wasn't necessary."

Rep. Itay Mittan, R-Benton Harbor, says all the remodeling "seems to me to be tearing this Capitol apart." But he's opposed to a new capitol because he believes the taxpayers don't want one.

Mittan says Michigan might well have followed the lead of Arizona, which built a capitol in 1912, then — instead of doing away with that and coming up with something altogether different — built wings and a back section onto the old structure. That preserved the old and at the same time provided necessary space for expansion.

Had Michigan chosen a similar path, however, it should have done so some time back, Mittan says, when "they discovered they needed more office space and ran everybody out of here."

Mittan referred to the 1960s, when legislative office expansion forced the attorney general, secretary of state and the Michigan Supreme Court to abandon their offices in the Capitol and move into space in the so-called Capitol "complex," austere buildings just behind the formal seat of government.

The only branch of government now in the Capitol itself, along with the legislature, is the office of the governor. The secretary of state maintains a token office there also to house the Great Seal of the State of Michigan and the state archives.

Michigan's present Capitol, four stories of sandstone topped by a white dome, was dedicated in 1879, replacing a temporary capitol one block southeast of the current site.

For that replacement, prominent architects from all over the country were asked to submit plans. Elijah E. Meyers of Springfield, Ill., came up with the most favored scheme, which reportedly cost just under $1.5 million to construct.

All went well for many, many

In the 1960s, however, growth caught up with the state and it seemed a new capitol was imminent.

The Detroit architectural firm of Smith, Hinchman and Grylls Associates, Inc., submitted plans calling for three box-shaped buildings — one for each of the branches of government — and a 185-foot pylon towering in the middle.

"A monstrosity," Mittan calls that design. "If this building (present capitol) burned down, I wouldn't vote for that."

That proposed design caused major problems. The House balked twice at approving funds for beginning work on the new capitol; then passed an appropriation. State money problems held up the work, though; and authorization for spending finally was rescinded.

State Sen. Charles O. Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, with former Sen. Garland Lane, D-Flint, was a principal backer of a new capitol at that point. But Zollar

EDITOR'S NOTE: The state building commission recently said the 97-year-old Capitol at Lansing, honeycombed with offices, is "overcrowded and is being used beyond practical capacity," adding Michigan should build a new one and stop spending money for renovating the old.

said recently that the plans submitted at the time weren't what folks had hoped for.

"I still think I was right when I went at it that first time," he said. "I fought the good battle and lost." But, he adds, he didn't like the proposed design. "If they'd shown nothing, we probably could have built," he contended.

Zollar opposes a new capitol now, even though he says the past five or six years of maintenance on the old building and lack of space has proved that it would have been most advantageous to build in the '60s.

"If we borrow money through bonding and have to pay interest for 30 or 40 years to build a new capitol, it will double or triple the cost of the building," he says.

Zollar now prefers to wait until the state "hopefully has the cash to build." He figures it will cost less to wait five years, because the interest payments won't be hanging over taxpayers' heads and "inflation is coming down."

Meanwhile, he declares, "If they pull one more brick out, the whole thing's gonna fall down."

State Rep. DeForrest Strong, R-Sturgis, says the present Capitol is "croaking and overloaded" and doesn't discount a new capitol yet.

"My thinking is mixed," he says. "We don't have the money. But we need a new capitol. There isn't any question about it."

"If we had an acceptable design, I think I would support the money to begin work on it."

"But I don't want one that looks like a broadcasting station."

State Sen. Gary Byker, R-Hudsonville, says he doesn't believe the state needs a new capitol "as long as the foundation of this one is suitable and safe."

What about an office building instead? Maybe, Byker says, adding, "a lot of times, I think you're better off renting than owning."

Gast still sees an "awful lot of good" in the present traditional Capitol and says he'd hate to see it "thrown away as a functional legislative place."

He favors a new office building, "not to house more bureaucracy because there's too much of that now," but for working office space.

Gast suggests an office building without frills, one in which each office occupied the same amount of space as the one next door and the one down the hall. Each would have a number, from House 1 to House 110 and Senate 1 to Senate 38 — the numbers of Michigan legislative districts.

"When a person was elected to office, he'd just take over the space with the same number as his legislative district," Gast says.

"That way, we wouldn't have the yearly, sometimes twice yearly, changing of offices because the colors aren't right or something like that. A person would just take the office space assigned him and use it as it was." The new building, he suggests, should be right across the street from the Capitol, on land now owned by the state. It formerly was the site of the Plymouth Congregational church, which burned down some years ago. A parking lot is being put in there now.

Thus, lawmakers would be close to their legislative chambers and committee rooms in the Capitol. In years to come, if a new capitol were constructed on land just west of the present site, the office building could house state departments, Gast says.

Kennedy, who agrees with the need for a new office building, notes that about 20 Democratic lawmakers now have offices in a building a block and one-half from the Capitol. "That's not conducive to the most efficient legislating," he says.

Hospitals Blast Medicaid Proposals

LANSING — Patricia E. Ludwig, president of the Michigan Hospital Association, has criticized two recent legislative proposals aimed at Michigan's Medicaid program.

According to Ludwig, "Hospital care for Medicaid recipients will be the victim if these two proposals are enacted."

The proposals contained in the revised executive budget bill, H.B. 4549, would limit increases in Medicaid payments per patient day to 7% and make Medicaid recipients pay $2 for every day of emergency, outpatient, clinic, visit. Both proposals have passed the Michigan House and are now up for Senate consideration.

Ludwig stated, "The 7% payment increase limit disregards the costs hospitals incur in treating the indigent." Last year, for example, the price hospitals had to pay for such items as fuel, supplies and insurance, increased 17.4%. Since many hospitals already operate in the red, there is absolutely no way for them to absorb the costs in treating patients.

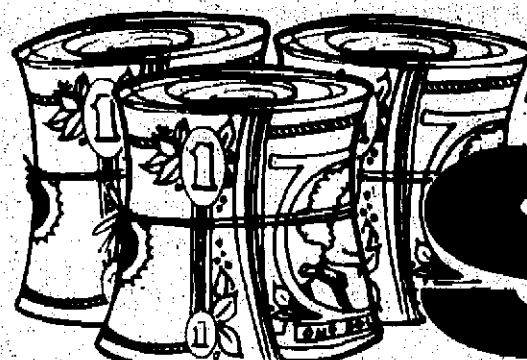

"Apparently," Ludwig stated, "this proposal, instead of waiving hospitals to offer two types of hospital care with a lower-priced brand being given to Medicaid patients."

The second proposal will require hospitals to collect $2 from every Medicaid recipient before they are treated in a hospital outpatient clinic. The AHA spokesman said that the legislation should not deny access to health care because the patient does not have $2, but this is exactly what this proposal will do. Because some patients will not be able to afford preventative outpatient care, their condition will become worse. Eventually, this may lead to use of more costly inpatient facilities to treat an illness that, when left untreated, grows more severe."

Paw Paw Gets New Maternity Care Plan

PAW PAW — Lake View Community Hospital here has initiated a family-centered maternity care program which permits fathers to be present with the mother during all phases of births. The program is new in the hospital and has been approved by the Michigan Department of Public Health, hospital officials said. Under the program, hospital officials said, husbands can be with their wives during labor, delivery and post birth procedures.

The new program also allows the infant to stay with the mother throughout the entire day, a spokesman added.

Tips On Storing Meat And Poultry

As soon as you get the meat home, take off the store wrapping and rewrap it loosely in wax paper so that air can get to it. Sometimes it's more convenient to put it in an open dish and cover it loosely with waxed paper. Put in refrigerator.

If you're freezing the meat, however, it should be wrapped airtight.

If possible, take the meat out of the refrigerator before cooking and let it stand until it is at room temperature. About an hour for small cuts, two or even more for large cuts.

Congress Votes

BY CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY

WASHINGTON — Votes of area members of Congress on key roll calls for the week ending July 17 were:

HOUSE

Oil Prices — The House, by a 238-172 vote, sent to President Ford a bill extending until Dec. 31 his authority to control the price of domestic oil. The bill also directed the President to roll back the price of domestic oil not presently subject to price controls — to about $11 per barrel from its present price level of $12-$13 per barrel.

The President had said he would veto such a bill, and the vote in the House — as well as an earlier vote in the Senate — came by too narrow a margin to enable either chamber to override a veto.

Advocates of the bill said that expiration of the price control authority on Aug. 31 would allow immediate decontrol of oil prices — and would give a vigorous push to inflation, injuring the consumer.

Opponents of the measure advocated gradual decontrol of the price of oil, but warned that the rollback provision would result in less domestic oil production — and even higher prices.

Voting to extend oil price control: Blanchard (D), Conyers (D), O'Neill (Majority Leader).

Voting not to extend oil price control: Brown (R), Hutchinson (R), VanderJagt (R), Rhodes (Minority Leader).

Intelligence Committee — By a 123-283 vote, the House rejected a proposal to terminate an investigation of alleged improper and illegal activities of the Central Intelligence Agency, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and other U.S. intelligence agencies.

On a later voice vote, the House abolished a deadlocked investigating committee established Feb. 19 and replaced it with a new panel to be chaired by Otis G. Pike (D-N.Y.).

Voting to terminate House CIA investigation: Hutchinson (R), Rhodes (Minority Leader).

Voting not to terminate House CIA investigation: Blanchard (D), Brown (R), Conyers (D), VanderJagt (R), O'Neill (Majority Leader).

SENATE

Sex Discrimination — The Senate voted 85-29 to reaffirm its earlier position and insisted on dropping an amendment prohibiting HEW from requiring that physical education classes be integrated by sex.

The House earlier had insisted that the prohibition stay in the bill.

Voting to require HEW to enforce such integration by sex: Hart (D).

Not voting: Griffin (R).

Fuel Efficiency Standards — The Senate voted 63-21 to impose fuel economy standards on all cars sold in the U.S. in model years 1977-78.

Opponents of the mandatory standards said they would hurt the auto and tourist industry, and argued that the bill was unnecessary and untimely because the auto makers had promised to improve fuel efficiency voluntarily if Congress would put off imposing stricter pollution standards.

Supporters responded that cars account for 40 per cent of the fuel U.S. consumers use, and that a strict government conservation program was needed to prod the industry into improving gas mileage.

Voting to impose fuel efficiency standards: Hart (D).

Voting not to impose fuel efficiency standards: Griffin (R).

Oil Prices — The Senate, by a 57-40 vote, approved the final version of a bill which extended executive authority to control the price of domestic oil until Dec. 31, from the present expiration date of Aug. 31, and which directed the President to roll back the price of domestic oil not presently subject to price controls to about $11 per barrel. This uncontrolled oil presently sells for $12-$13 per barrel. President Ford opposed the rollback provision and was expected to veto the bill. The margin of approval in the Senate, and the narrow margin by which the House later approved the bill, indicated that it was doubtful that Congress could override that veto.

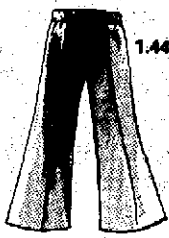

Voting to extend oil price control authority: Hart (D).

Voting not to extend oil price control authority: Griffin (R).

Harris Kicking Off Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic presidential hopeful Fred R. Harris is starting from in front of the White House on a 13-state, 5,300-mile cross-country camper trip to boost his presidential candidacy.

The rally today in Lafayette Square across from the White House starts what is being billed as the most extensive cross-country travel by a presidential candidate since Harry S. Truman's whistlestop train trips in the 1948 campaign.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Heading Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market headed higher today with a lift from a favorable response on Wall Street to General Motors' second quarter earnings report.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up a fraction, and gainers took a 2-1 lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

After Tuesday's close, GM reported an 8.8 per cent gain in earnings for the second quarter over its showing in the comparable period last year.

Analysts noted that the giant automaker, the largest company in one of the nation's key industries, is often regarded as a "bellwether" in the stock market.

GM shares picked up 5/8 to 49 1/2 in active trading.

Chrysler, which reported a $58.7 million second quarter loss, was down 1/4 at 12.

On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average was off 2.97 at 824.86, bringing its loss over the past two weeks to 56.85 points.

Declines outpaced advances by more than a 2-1 margin on the NYSE in turnover of an even 19 million shares.

The Big Board's composite index was down .31 at 47.20.

The American Stock Exchange's market value index dropped .85 to 89.68.

Koehring Agrees To Contract

MILWAUKEE — Koehring Co. said it agreed with Societe Nationale de Recherche d'Eau et d'Aménagement Hydraulique on an $80 million contract from the Algerian agency.

The pact would involve 37 water-pump-drilling rigs and support equipment to establish self-sufficient drilling units in the Algerian desert. Koehring will provide the drilling units, trucks, trailers and complete camp units, along with technical assistance and training programs for Algerians who will operate the camps, the company said.

The drills will be used to provide water to a 300-mile by 500-mile segment of the Sahara for agricultural development.

The drilling rigs will be made by Koehring's Speedstar division, Enid, Okla. Deliveries will be over three years, beginning next month.

Algeria also awarded Koehring a separate order for three more drilling rigs and accessory equipment valued at $6.3 million, it said.

(Koehring is parent firm of Benton Harbor Engineering division.)

U.S. Steel Earnings A Record

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp. has posted record earnings for the first six months of 1975, despite a 19.4 per cent drop in profits for the second quarter.

The nation's largest producer said Tuesday that its first half earnings were $311.2 million, or $5.74 per share, on sales of $4.2 billion. The earnings figure includes $44.6 million in income for the sale of 49,000 acres of timberland in Alabama.

U.S. Steel's previous first-half record earnings came in 1959.

In 1974, U.S. Steel reported first-half income of $249.8 million, or $4.61 per share, on sales of $4.3 billion.

Earnings Gain Slightly

Clark's Quarterly Sales Up 11 Per Cent

BUCHANAN — Clark Equipment company has announced an 11 per cent increase in sales and a slight rise in earnings for the second quarter of 1975.

Net income for the second quarter was $13.6 million, or $1 per share, compared to $13.5 million, or 99 cents per share, for the same period of 1974. Quarterly sales were $384.7 million, up from the $343.8 million reported in the second quarter last year.

For the first six months of 1975, Clark recorded net income of $26.4 million or $1.94 per share on sales of $738.2 million. In 1974, the company had net income of $24.3 million or $1.79 per share on sales of $663.4 million for the first half of the year.

"The higher sales resulted primarily from price increases, as unit shipments declined somewhat in most product lines," said Bert E. Phillips, president and chief executive officer. Another factor was a backlog of orders that stood at $846 million at year end 1974, and had declined to $615 million on June 30, 1975.

He pointed out that although some capital expansion plans have been delayed because of the current softness in business, the company expects capital expenditures to approximate last year's record $75 million.

"Over the long term we still foresee excellent growth potential," Phillips said. "Our primary goal today is to continue to improve operating efficiencies and deploy assets to our most promising areas of business in order to enable the company to compete profitably in the anticipated rebound of the world economy in general and the capital goods sector in particular."

Wicks' biggest problem division is its mobile-homes division. "It's extraordinarily bad," he said. "We'll have a substantial loss this year in our mobile-home business."

The recession, unemployment and interest rates have caused a serious decline in that market, he said.

"Compared to the rest of the lumber industry, our lumber operations have performed admirably well. We've achieved good sales but with a heavy promotional effort, which means low margins. This division's contribution will be below that of last year."

McNeely said the company's recreational vehicles, furniture manufacturing, farm building, machine tool and kitchen cabinet divisions were "performing medium well."

English Comic On His Way To Tuesday Wedding

Q: Is my favorite, Tuesday Weld, still going with the English comic - what's his name? - B.V., Boston, Mass.

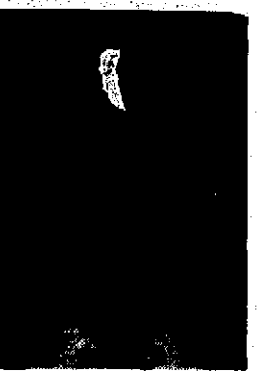

A: Not only yes but Tuesday is going to marry what's-his-name (Dudley Moore) in August when

DUDLEY MOORE
Will marry Tuesday

MARY TYLER MOORE
Her face is red

GEORGE HAMILTON
Mother said yes and lost

Dudley's tour of "Good Evening" reaches Los Angeles.

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: Why is Mary Tyler Moore's face so flushed these days? Mary has either gotten too much sun or more likely had a face peel. That's that highly controversial chemical treatment that burns off the tired outer skin leaving a fresh new baby-face underneath. Some dermatologists feel this is a very dangerous treatment because the chemicals can easily slough off too many layers of facial skin.

Q: What was the outcome of the lawsuit George Hamilton's mother brought against her plastic surgeon? - H.A., Sarasota, Fla.

A: Anne Hamilton lost the suit claiming negligence on the part of her surgeon. George says she lost because he begged her not to wear make-up to court and she said, "Are you mad? I wouldn't be caught dead without make-up." The result was she looked better than anyone else in court and the jury said so.

Q: Is Richard Burton still drinking? - F.T., Philadelphia, Pa.

A: At the moment, he is confining himself to one bottle of beer per day.

Q: Jerry Lewis never seems to get any older. What's his age and how does he do it? - O.R., Waycross, Ga.

A: Jerry is 49 and claims that one of the reasons for his youthful appearance is that he crosses his eyes a lot in his comic routines. This, he says, is the best eye exercise in the world and if your eyes are healthy and clear you look a lot younger and see better too.

Q: Don't you think Andy Warhol is disgusting? It's people like him who have contributed to the moral delinquency in this nation. - D.T., Brooklyn, N.Y.

A: Well, that's kind of unfair since Andy says he doesn't even believe in sex since it is too much work and takes your mind off other more important things. To answer you - no, we think Andy is quite nice, very pleasant, and a harmless but important figure in Sixties-Seventies culture.

Is The First Lady A Women's Libber?

Does First Lady Betty Ford believe in Women's Liberation?

How does newscaster Barbara Walters react to the complaint that certain viewers find her television manner condescending?

Why does actor Alan Alda feel that the death of the McLean Stevenson character on "MASH" was necessary? What advice did the late Tyrone Power offer to actor Robert Conrad that has helped the latter's career immeasurably?

Read this week's "Ask Them Yourself" for the surprising answers to these and six other questions. It's in Family Weekly magazine, a regular feature of The Herald-Palladium.

AT KALAMAZOO

Cancer Detection Service Underway

KALAMAZOO — The Midwest Oncology center of Borgess hospital here is forming a new clinical service to detect the major forms of cancer for southwestern Michigan residents.

The hospital's new cancer detection unit has been screening patients for signs of cell abnormalities on a limited basis, even though its operations will not be in full swing until remodeling of its future quarters is completed this fall.

The center is a cancer diagnosis, treatment and research organization affiliated with the Southwest Oncology group — one of the major groups sponsored by the National Cancer Institute. Through earlier detection of the various cancers, doctors of the center believe it possible to achieve significant improvement in the quality and duration of life for cancer victims.

The Borgess cancer detection unit charges a fee of $62 per person to cover the entire cost of the services it delivers. That fee can be reduced or eliminated for those who demonstrate limited ability or inability to pay. The unit can be contacted directly for examination appointments, but a hospital spokesman said prospective patients are urged to make the appointment through their family physicians.
